GASOLINE VICTIMS.

One Dead, Perhaps Three Will Die From Burns.

CAN KNOCKED FROM A WOMAN'S HANDS.

LITTLE CHILDREN PLAYING NEAR WHILE SHE WAS FILLING A STOVE.

A HEROINE SHARED THEIR TERRIBLE FATE.

MRS. LIZZIE MILLER RUSHED TO THE RESCUE OF MRS. SCHULTE.

FLAMES COMPLETELY ENVELOPED ALL FOUR.

The Stove Was Lighted at the Time and When the Can Was Upset There Was a Burst of Fire.

Two children of Mrs. Ida Schulte, aged 5 and 3 years, were fatally burned in a gasoline explosion at their home, 3221 South Twenty-first street, Tuesday morning.

Their mother and a neighbor, Mrs. Lizzie Miller, were seriously burned.

The mother's attempt to fill the reservoir of a gasoline stove while the stove was lighted, was responsible for the horror.

Both the children are boys. The elder is Edward and the younger Ignatz.

At 11 o'clock Mrs. Schulte was ironing. After she had lighted the stove, she discovered that the gasoline in the reservoir was almost exhausted.

She got the gasoline can and without extinguishing the burner began to fill the reservoir.

Her little sons were playing about the room.

The younger, a happy, boisterous little fellow, was much interested in his mother's dangerous task.

He crowded close to her, the better to see what she was doing and how she was doing it.

Occupied with the work in hand, Mrs. Schulte paid no attention to him.

The child made a quick movement, struck his mother's arm and the mischief was done.

The almost full can of gasoline was knocked from Mrs. Schulte's hand, the stream from its mouth encountering the flame of the stove burner.

Instantly there was an explosion which rent the can in pieces and scattered blazing gasoline over all the occupants of the room.

The clothing of mother and children was instantly ablaze.

Disregarding her own desperate plight the mother caught her screaming children and tried to beat out the fire that surrounded each.

Most of the oil had flown over them, and they were ablaze in every part of their clothing.

Screams of mother and children attracted Mrs. Lizzie Miller, who lives next door.

She rushed into the Schultze kitchen and worked desperately to extinguish the flames which hid each child behind a wall of fire.

Mrs. Schulte's burns were by this time so painful that she was forced to leave the children to Mrs. Miller and attempt to save her own life.

She succeeded better than she had with her children

Mrs. Miller fought the flames bravely, and at last succeeded in extinguishing them, but not until each child had been seared from head to foot and she herself was painfully burned.

Other neighbors had collected and rendered every assistance possible.

The ambulance from the North End Dispensary was called and the four victims were taken there. After a preliminary dressing they were sent to the City Hospital.

The doctor who attended them said the children could hardly live. Scarcely a square inch of their bodies was untouched by the fire. Ignatz died at noon.

Mrs. Miller is Mrs. Schulte's sister. Her efforts to save the children were most heroic. She had no time to get anything to wrap around them, and she beat the flames out with her hands. All the skin was burned from them while she worked, but she paid no heed to the excruciating agony she was suffering. She worked with the children until every spark had been extinguished.

The father of the children, H. B. Schulte, is a carpenter and builder. He was at work and arrived at home as the victims were being taken away.

He said his wife was 28 years old. He seemed not to be able to understand how the accident had happened. He said she had always been careful in the use of gasoline.

He was almost distracted by the horror of ity that had fallen upon him and ke a child.

AMENDMENTS PROBABLY LOST.

Belief General That the City Hall Push Is Beaten.

ELECTION UNUSUALLY QUIET AND VOTE LIGHT.

ESTIMATED THAT NOT MORE THAN 35,000 BALLOTS WERE CAST.

ZIEGENHEIN ORDERED A POSTER TORN DOWN.

Supporters of the Amendments Discouraged as the Voting Progressed and by Evening Were Almost Hopeless.

Late Tuesday afternoon the appearances were that the Charter amendment boomers had practically given up the fight. The forces against them were entirely too strong.

The total registration in St. Louis is about 135,000. Knowing ones calculate that 35,000 of this vote has been lost by deaths, removals and failures to register. This leaves a total vote in the city of 100,000. It is thought from Tuesday's vote up to 3 o'clock that about one-third of this vote would be cast in the Charter amendment election. To carry the amendments it is necessary for three-fifths or 21,000 of these votes to be in favor of the amendments. Politicians freely predict the defeat of the amendments by a vote of about 20,000 "against" to 15,000 "for," based on calculations made on a rough summary of the votes cast in the morning.

"THIS THING NEEDS NO EXPLANATION."

Mayor Ziegenhein gave up hope of winning on his pet scheme several days ago. Tuesday morning he threw policy to the winds. About 8 o'clock the Mayor, bland and smiling, went into the Second Precinct of the Tenth Ward to vote. When he had cast his ballot and returned to the sidewalk he saw one of the circulars issued by the good citizens, who had raised a fund offering $100 for evidence against any person found guilty of election frauds. The Mayor waxed warm at the sight of the circular and, calling a policeman, ordered it torn down. The officer refused. The Mayor then went to the Second District Police Station and called upon Capt. Boyd to tear down the circular. Like an obedient officer Boyd went to the scene and the circular disappeared.

"I AM GLAD I DIDN'T CHANGE MY RESIDENCE."

The combined opposition of the German press in South St. Louis wielded a big influence against the amendments and was responsibe for the safe majority cast there in opposition to the City Hall push.

In Carondelet, the Eleventh Ward, the vote against the amendments was heavy. State Senator Fred Mott, a stanch Republican and a prominent real estate dealer, came from there at noon, and was confident that of the light vote cast in Carondelet there would be three votes "no" to one "yes." He predicted the same result all over South St. Louis.

The old Third Ward, now the Sixth, will cast a large vote against the amendments. This ward runs from Twenty-second street to the river and from Plum to Rutger streets. Bill Owen, one of Ziegenhein's pets and officeholders, is the Charter Amendment representative in this ward. Louis Guion and John P. Collins, both well known in Democratic circles, threw down the gauntlet to Owen several days ago. They organized thoroughly, canvassed the ward throughout for a correct list of the voters and Tuesday found their faction with one watcher at each poll. They heartily opposed the amendments and at noon Tuesday Collins was confident two-thirds of the vote cast was

POWDER MILL BLOWN UP.

Seven Men, Including One Soldier, Killed.

TWO FATALLY HURT AND EIGHT MISSING.

RUINS OF THE WRECKED BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY SUCCEEDING FIRE.

VOLUNTEERS INCLUDED AMONG THE MEN HURT.

They Were on Guard to Prevent Spanish Agents, Who Were Greatly Feared, From Working Destruction of the Plant.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The Laflin-Rand powder mills at Pompton Lakes, N. J., were blown up by the explosion of a boiler this morning.

Seven men were instantly killed, one of them a soldier of the five troops of New Jersey volunteers which had been guarding the mills from Spanish spies.

Many workmen were buried in the ruins. Upward of 50 were severely injured.

The powder mills which are among the largest in the country, are situated on the outskirts of the little village of Pompton Lakes, which is a suburb of Dover.

Six months ago, when war seemed imminent, the works were enlarged and chartered by the American Smokeless Powder Co., which had a big contract for the manufacture of high explosives for the Government. Aside from a factory in California the works at Pompton Lakes were the only ones where smokeless powder was made in the United States, and consequently were of great value to the Government.

For the last three months the works have been guarded by a battalion of the Third New Jersey Volunteers under Col. Lee. There were men stationed not only around the grounds, but in each of the buildings, their special duty being to see that no persons except those employed by the company were in the grounds.

These men were on duty this morning when the explosion came.

The works blew up just before 11 o'clock. There was a terrific explosion, which was heard for miles and which broke windows in the city of Dover.

The wreck was a complete one. Not one of the many buildings which formed the powder works was left standing and where some of them had been there was only a huge hole in the ground.

Save for ruined foundation walls it was hard to tell where some of the buildings had stood.

Many of the soldiers were injured by flying debris, but in spite of their own hurts they went to the rescue. Buried beneath the ruins, which in many places were burning fiercely, were the employes of the company. Cut, bleeding and bruised, most of them were too seriously hurt to help themselves and could only feebly cry for rescue from death by fire. The rescued victims were carried to neighboring farm houses.

Seven bodies of men who had been instantly killed were found frightfully mutilated, not only by the explosion itself, but by the flying debris, which had struck them with the force of cannon balls and had torn away arms and legs as well as piercing the flesh.

The search of the ruins was not thorough, even though the soldiers and their willing aides, the farmers, tried to make it so.

The flames which seized upon the wreck of the buildings prevented the men searching as they wished, and it was found necessary to send to Dover for fire apparatus to extinguish the flames.

As soon as the explosion was reported to the powder company a special train was sent to Pompton Lakes with surgeons, nurses and materials for dressing wounds.

Of the wounded many are seriously injured, but it is believed all will recover.

The fact that the two previous explosions had been attributed to Spanish agents caused a prompt investigation to be made as to the cause of this accident. The officials of the powder company soon satisfied themselves that it was due to the boiler.

IN THE ELECTRIC CHAIR.

Mrs. Place the First Women Sentenced to Die by That Means.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Mrs. Martha M. Place, convicted of the murder of her stepdaughter, Ida Place, was to-day sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison during the week beginning Aug. 29.

Mrs. Place broke down when sentence was pronounced. Mrs. Place is 44 years of age, the murdered girl was 18. She was insanely jealous of her stepdaughter, with whom she had frequent quarrels. Some time during the day on Feb. 7 last she smothered the young woman to death with a pillow. Then she lay in wait behind the front door for her husband and attacked him with a hatchet. For some time his life was despaired of as a result of the wounds she inflicted, but he finally recovered. If Mrs. Place is executed she will have been the first woman put to death in this State in the electric chair.

ORANGEMEN'S OUTING.

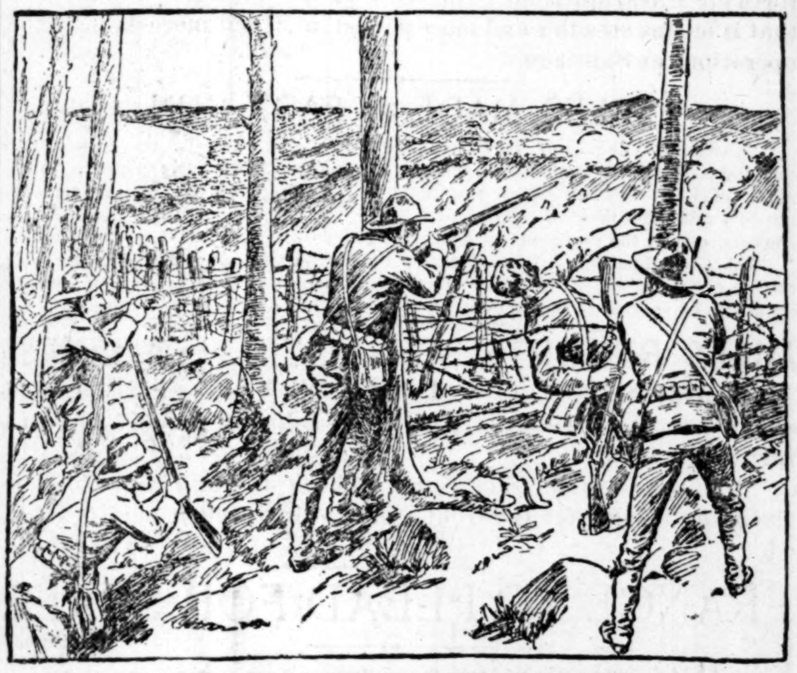
PORT HURON, Mich., July 12.—More than 7000 Orangemen, residents of Canada and the United States, to-day celebrated the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne.

Military street bridge, in the center of the city, is decorated with portraits of Queen Victoria and of President McKinley. Other patriotic decorations were numerously displayed. Over 70 Orangemen's lodges are represented, and as each has a fife and drum corps, martial music was the strong feature of the big parade this afternoon. Grand Master Lloyd and other officers rode in a carriage decorated with both the union jack and the stars and stripes.

The usual programme of sports, speeches and picnicking was carried out at Pine Grove Park after the parade.

TRUCE SEEMS TO BE STILL ON.

No Advices From the Field Indicate Resumption of Hostilities.



BARBED WIRE TROCHAS YET TO BE MET.

In front of the trenches around Santiago the Spaniards have erected barbed-wire fences, which constitute mazes of barbed wire about five feet wide. These fences are expected to delay our men long enough in the open at short range to give the enemy time to shoot them down. Incidentally, the wounds caused by the spikes are considered serious in a tropical clime, often leading to blood poisoning.

DON CARLOS THINKS SPAIN SHOULD BOW

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
Copyright by the Press Publishing Company, 1898.

LONDON, July 12.—The Madrid correspondent of the Chronicle wires:

"Don Carlos, who leaves Brussels to-day, significantly advocates direct peace negotiations, without the intervention of the powers.

"Barcelona is again urging peace, and the prospect of an early settlement appears to be increasing.

"Silvela, the Conservative leader, favors peace only on the basis of the independence of Cuba."

MADRID, July 12.—The possibility of peace with the United States is being widely discussed in the newspapers and by the public. The Conservative papers declare that Spain is prepared to accept peace provided it implies only the loss of Cuba.

The public connects the recent conference between Duke Almodovar de Rio, the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs, and the French Ambassador here, M. Patrenotre, with the report that the French Ambassador at Washington, M. Cambon, has been instructed to ascertain the lightest conditions upon which peace is obtainable.

THE POST-DISPATCH SUPPLY CARS.

ST. LOUIS, July 12, 1898.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

At the last regular meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy the ladies passed a vote of thanks to you for your kind assistance in transporting goods to the soldiers at Chickamauga. For your able and generous co-operation we offer our united thanks, and feel that a large share of the good work is yours. Sincerely yours,

MRS. J. G. ROBERT,
Corresponding Secretary United Daughters of Confederacy.

Official Feeling of Security Shown by Orders Removing All Mines in American Harbors.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—At 3 p. m. Secretary Alger said he had received no message whatever from Gen. Shafter since the dispatch given out in the forenoon.

He thought matters were unchanged, therefore, and assumed that a flag of truce was still flying and that the enemy were negotiating for a surrender.

The only message received from Siboney was a short dispatch from Gen. Miles regarding transportation, in the course of which he said:

"The rains are the heaviest I have ever known."

SPANISH ARMY MAY HAVE FLED.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The expectation was general today that Santiago would be ours very soon. The main source of apprehension to-day was that the Spaniards may have succeeded to a considerable degree in evacuating the town before the American lines were completed, so that when the Americans entered the city it would be found empty, with perhaps nothing more than a desperate rear guard of Spaniards left to protect and conceal the retreat of the main body of troops.

There were several indications of some such move, which is supposed to have been in progress for the past three or four days. Gen. Shafter himself reported under date of Sunday that the Spaniards had evacuated a small town on the west side of the bay, one of the suburbs of Santiago, while the Associated Press dispatches of yesterday referred to the departure of a body of Spanish troops from Santiago towards Holguin.

Of course these facts are not conclusive that the town has been evacuated by the Spanish army, but the fact cannot be concealed that there is apprehension entertained that the main result of the investment of Santiago, aside from the important achievement of driving the Spanish squadron to its destruction, will be the inheritance by Gen. Shafter of several thousand wounded Spanish soldiers and many more thousand hungry mouths in Santiago.

TO CLEAR OUR HARBORS OF MINES.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Secretary of War has ordered the removal of all the submarine mines which now protect the harbors of the United States against the entry of hostile ships. This action was decided upon at to-day's Cabinet meeting.

Practically it has been impossible for shipping to enter or leave any of the harbors of the United States during the last two months between the hours of sunset and sunrise.

The deciion of the Cabinet to remove these mines now is one of the most signal manifestations of supreme confidence of the Government in the future and of the exemption of United States ports from attack from any hostile power. After thoroughly considering the subject it has been decided by the engineers that th safest and quickest means of removing the mines is by explodi them, and orders to do this have been given.

SHAFTER REPORTS ANOTHER TRUCE.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The following dispatch was received from Gen. Shafter at 9:30 a. m.:

Playa del Este, via Hayti, July 12.--Headquarters Fifth Army Corps. To Adjutant-General, Washington: It has been very quiet, but little fighting.

A flag of truce up since 2 o'clock considering proposition for surrendering, now that I have the town surrounded on the north.

Lines were completed at 5 p. m. by Gen. Ludlow right down to the bay. The line is rather thin, but will have it strengthened in the morning by Gen. Henry, who has just arrived at headquarters.

Only three or four casualties. No one killed so far as I can learn.

Expect to have two of the new batteries in position to-morrow.

Great deal of suffering among the people who have gone out of Santiago.

Am doing my best t lieve t not entirely successful.

ALTGELD HOLDS THE COMMITTEE.

Springfield's Democratic Convention Gets Down to Work.

JUDGE PRENTISS IN THE CHAIR.

ALL THE FACTIONS HAVE ACTIVE WORKERS ON THE SCENE.

A CHANGE IN THE COMMITTEE BY-LAWS

Indicate That Algeld Has the Whip Hand Over Mayor Harrison.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CONVENTION HALL, SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12.—At this time the indications are that there will be no open breach in the convention between Mayor Harrison and ex-Gov. Altgeld. Altgeld has the organization of the State Central Committee, and there may be a fight upon the report of the committee reporting the personnel of the committee.

The by-laws of the committee were changed last night in order to select an outsider for chairmanship. J. W. Orr was selected. He is Altgeld's man, and this is a sure indication that Altgeld has the committee in hand. Buck Hinrichson has been here two days working in the interest of Mayor Harrison on account of his break with Altgeld two years ago. It is said that Harrison and Gahan factions have developed strength enough to make it interesting for Altgeld. Senator Joe P. Mahoney, who has Altgeld's fight in hand, says that the ex-Governor does not want the chairmanship.

Altgeld has one of his characteristic speeches in his pocket denouncing Tanner on his negro man policy and the business administration. He will be given an opportunity to deliver it.

Judge William Prentiss of Chicago called the convention to order at 12 o'clock in the Exposition Building in the Fair Grounds. He was made temporary chairman, and the following other officers were chosen: Secretary, A. C. Bentley, Pittsfield; Assistants, William Decker, Chicago; W. F. A. Bernheimer, Chicago; J. R. Coverly, Chicago; W. J. Roach, Chicago; C. W. Bliss, Hillsboro; Roy Alder, J. F. Scott, Carthage; M. E. Amerman, Ornargo; A. L. Hereford, Springfield; Sergeant-at-Arms, John P. Enright, East St. Louis.

The State Committee was changed slightly from the programme of last night. The changes are: Joe Schwab, Chicago, Seventh; Ben Cable, Tenth; Dan Keanan, Eleventh; Walter Watson, Twentieth; William Loeffler, Fourth; Roger C. Sullivan, Fifth; C. W. Ferguson, Ninth; T. T. Dunn, Fifteenth; James Singie, Twenty-second.

It was nearly 1 o'clock when Orr chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, introduced Judge Prentiss of Chicago as temporary chairman. Judge Prentiss attacked McKinley and called his administration a Hanna administration. The name of William J. Bryan brought the delegates to their feet with cheers lasting a dozen minutes.

Following is the new State Central Committee:

First District—Alexander J. Jones, Chicago.
Second—Thomas Burns, Chicago.
Third—Thomas J. McNally, Chicago.
Fourth—Wm. Loeffler, Chicago.
Fifth—Roger C. Sullivan, Chicago.
Sixth—Robert E. Burke, Chicago.
Seventh—Joseph S. Schwab, Chicago.
Eighth—D. J. Hogan, Kane County.
Ninth—Charles W. Ferguson, Winnebago County.
Tenth—Ben T. Cable, Rock Island.
Eleventh—T. Heenan, Streator.
Twelfth—T. F. Donovan, Kankakee.
Thirteenth—Col. John A. Hefferman, Bloomington.
Fourteenth—Frank J. Quinn, Peoria.
Fifteenth—T. F. Dunn, Hancock County.
Sixteenth—A. C. Bentley, Pittsfield.
Seventeenth—James P. Ricks, Taylorville.
Eighteenth—Not selected.
Nineteenth—H. B. Lee, Clark County.
Twentieth—Walter Watson, Mount Vernon.
Twenty-first—Scott Matthews, Kinmundy.
Twenty-second—James Linge, Jonesboro.

While the Committee on Credentials was out ex-Gov. Altgeld addressed the convention at length. He claimed for the Democrats credit for the present war.

FUSION POPULISTS.

They Select Two Names to Go on the Democratic Ticket.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12.—The People's party held a short session in Representatives' Hall this morning and appointed a committee to confer with a committee from the Democratic convention looking to a fusion of the parties in the coming campaign. Two names, John C. Tanquary of Wabash County and J. A. Kennedy of Prairie City, were chosen by the Populists to be submitted to the Democrats, either one of which would be satisfactory as the fusion candidate for member of the Board of Trustees, University of Illinois. Gov. Altgeld will address the People's party in convention this afternoon.

STREET RAILWAY COMPANIES.

Their Agents Heard by the State Board of Equalization.

The State Board of Equalization met Tuesday morning at Jefferson City and began the work of hearing the representatives of street railways of the State in support of the statements of valuation of the companies filed with the board.

J. W. Halliburton, attorney for the Southwest Missouri Electric Railway Co. of Jasper County, appeared before the board at its forenoon session.

The representatives of St. Louis companies arrived at noon, and at 2:30 o'clock the board heard them in the interest of their companies.

Chairman S. L. Moser of the Equal Taxation Committee of the St. Louis Single Tax League, is watching the action of the board in the interest of his committee.

SCHOOL MONEY TO DIVIDE.

Auditor Seibert Has Nearly a Million Dollars to Distribute.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 12.—State Auditor Seibert to-day certified to State Superintendent Kirk the amount of money to be apportioned among the different counties of the State for the benefit of the public schools for 1898. This amount will be apportioned by the State Superintendent by Aug. 1, upon the enumeration of school children reported by the county clerks of the State. The total amount to be apportioned as certified by the State Auditor is $916,256.73 and is made up from the following: One-third of the ordinary State revenue received from July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1898, $779,718.11; interest on school fund certificates $136,090; refunded errors in enumeration, by J. L. Carson, Treasurer Greene County, $448.62. Total, $916,256.73.

A HERO OF SAN JUAN.

PRIVATE JOHN BRENNAN GOING HOME TO LEAVENWORTH ON A FURLOUGH.

SHOT IN HIS WRIST AND SIDE.

He Reports the Brave Soldiers Cheerful and Enthusiastic, Despite Their Difficult Fighting.

John Brennan, a private in Company G of the Sixth United States Infantry, passed through the city Tuesday en route to his home in Leavenworth, Kan.

This soldier boy was well to the front when the American troops made their terrific charge on San Juan Heights, July 1. He was shot through the wrist and his side was severely wounded by a shell from the Spanish artillery. He carries his arm in a sling and is obliged to use a crutch.

"I thought my time had come," said Private Brennan in discussing his experience, "for when rescued I felt more dead than alive. I was right beside Capt. Witherell when he fell. A truer, braver fellow never lived than Capt. Witherell. He was in the first rank from the moment the battle began, and he died a hero. He was shot five times, two bullets piercing his heart and the others lodging in his head and neck.

"Nearly all the men hurt were officers. All told there were 21 officers killed and wounded. The fight began at 4:30 o'clock in the morning and continued 12 hours. The sun was frightfully hot, and there were several sunstrokes.

"The injured men suffered excruciating agony. No one can realize the terrors and pain of warfare without personal experience. I am going home on a 10 days' furlough. I expect at the end of that time to be in good trim for another battle. All the boys are enthusiastic and cheerful, but occasionally the mighty roar of cannons and great firing on both sides unnerves a fellow."

POLICEMAN HANRAHAN DEAD.

Had Been on the Force Thirteen Years and Had a Good Record.

Patrolman John Hanrahan, a member of the police force since October, 1885, died at his home, 1704 Papin street, Tuesday morning after an illness of three months.

Last spring Hanrahan was prostrated by pneumonia. He recovered, but was not able to again resume work. Instead of growing stronger, he gradually wasted away, and when death came the once magnificently built officer was but little more than a skeleton. The dead policeman was 38 years old and had never married. He lived with his mother and was her support. The records at the Four Courts show that he had always been a good officer.

NO MORE SMALL BONDS.

Subscriptions Closed at Sub-Treasury With a Rush.

The subscriptions for 3 per cent Government bonds authorized as a war loan were closed at the United States Sub-Treasury shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. At that hour over $60,000 cash receipts for that day were on hand.

There was a big rush of people anxious to get in before the closing hour. A few were disappointed. Assistant United States Treasurer Small said:

"I am unable to state at this time the total subscriptions in amounts of $500 and less forwarded from St. Louis. There is a great deal of clerical work to be done before the final results can be announced. The full sum subscribed for is, I estimate, probably $1,500,000."

BOONVILLE'S BIG FAIR.

All the Money Wanted to Be Raised To-Day.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOONVILLE, Mo., July 12.—At a meeting last night in the Courthouse of this city of the Cooper County Agricultural and Mechanical Society subscriptions to the amount of $700 were raised. This amount is only about half enough to meet the expenses for the completion of the Boonville Fair Grounds. Up to this time more than $3000 have been spent by the association. A final effort will be made to-day by a committee of three to secure the necessary money with which to complete the work. The fair, however, is especially assured and will be held in August. Boonville is near the center of the famous short shipment circuit, which extends from Southern Iowa to Central Arkansas.

HAS SLIGHTED SOME.

Mayor Harrison Fails to Reappoint Some Board Members.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Mayor Harrison has made appointments to the Board of Education to fill the places of the nine members whose terms expire to-morrow. Among those who failed of reappointment are Dr. W. H. Gresham, son of the late Walter Q. Gresham.

The principal business to come before the new board at its first meeting, Wednesday night, is the election of a Superintendent of Schools. The candidates for this position are the present superintendent, Albert C. Lane, and Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, President of the Brown University.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS.

Several Factories and a Tenement Destroyed at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., July 12.—A fire involving heavy loss broke out last night in the manufacturing district, at Harriet and Sloo streets. It was first discovered in the dismantled warehouse of the McGill Grate and Mantel Co., and spread rapidly to the yards of the E. D. Albro Lumber Co. and other combustible manufactories in that district. Among the leading losers are the Albro company, $50,000 lumber alone; Queen City Mantel and Grate Co., $30,000; T. J. Mackey, $20,000; Ayger Furniture Co., $25,000; Collier & Budd Coal Co., offices burned. A four-story tenement house was in the line of fire and was destroyed, the inmates making narrow escapes. Total loss will reach $150,000.

TO CLAIM HER DOWER.

Mrs. George M. Pullman Formally Renounces the Will.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 12.—Mrs. George M. Pullman, in accordance with her intention expressed some time since, yesterday filed in the Probate Court her formal renunciation of benefits under her late husband's will. This is preliminary to making claims to her share of the estate under her dower rights.

MILES EXPECTED TO RUSH MATTERS.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Gen. Miles last night sent a dispatch to the War Department announcing his arrival in Cuba and that he was in telephonic communication with Admiral Sampson and Gen. Shafter.

It has been given out to the Associated Press that Gen. Miles will not interfere with Gen. Shafter's plans, but the statement has not silenced gossip and the wise-appearing wagging of heads.

The statement is looked upon in the departments as literally true—that as all of Shafter's plans have been approved, if not originated, in Washington, with Gen. Miles as one of the chief factors in their consideration, the policy so far outlined at Santiago will not be "interfered with." But it is not believed that Gen. Miles has gone to the front simply as a spectator.

It is pointed out that the Commander of the army took sudden and unexpected departure; that he was hurried to Charleston by a speedy special train, and that he took ship with the least possible delay and ceremony. It is further pointed out as an indication of haste on his part that troops which it was announced were to go with the same expedition were left behind, though only a few hours' time would have been required to fit them for embarkation.

All these things indicate to official Washington that Gen. Miles believes his presence at Santiago necessary, and that the President agreed with him; that, though he may not "interfere with" established plans, he will take hold of them and push operations to a rapid conclusion.

All kinds of possible explanations, differing greatly, are set forth for Miles' apparent rush to Cuba, but it is agreed on all sides that it means steadier and more persistent, if not more determined, operations at Santiago.

MILES MADE A FAST RUN.

WASHINGTON, July 12—The notably fast run made by the cruiser Yale carrying Gen. Miles from Charleston to Santiago is particularly pleasing to the naval officials. She left Charleston Saturday morning at 2 o'clock, making the run in a trifle less than two days and a half. She had on board the Sixth Massachusetts, one of the regiments of Gen. Garretson's brigade.

The Columbus, which left Charleston practically simultaneously with the Yale, carried one battalion of the Sixth Illinois, also a part of Garretson's brigade. So far as can be learned at this writing the Columbia has not arrived off Santiago.

MILES REPORTS STRENGTHENED LINES.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Gen. Miles, who arrived at Siboney on the Yale yesterday, made the following report to Secretary Alger to-day:

"Troops brought from Tampa, Charleston and New York arrived and leaving for the front. Line of investment being extended. MILES."

FRANCE TO PLEAD FOR SPAIN.

When Spain Shall Cry Enough M. Cambrou Will Probably Be Her Spokesman.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1898, by the Press Publishing Co.)

LONDON, July 12.—France's new Foreign Minister, M. de La Casse, has notified the Spanish Ambassador at Paris, Senor Leon Castillo, that the French Government is ready to tender the good offices of the French Ambassador at Washington, M. Cambon, in opening negotiations for peace if the Madrid Government will permit it to do so.

The proposition, first suggested by Austria and France, of intercession at Washington by the British Ambassador has been abandoned. Premier Sagasta informed the European powers through Ambassador Castillo that the home difficulties of the Spanish Ministry would be likely to be gravely increased if Great Britain's aid were invoked, because of the hatred of England pervading Spain.

It is expected in diplomatic and ministerial quarters here that peace negotiations will be opened through the French Ambassador at Washington.

The Sagasta Ministry is now regarded with contempt throughout Europe, it being notorious that its members are only deterred from suing for peace by fear for their personal safety.

OUR PURPORTED TERMS SET FORTH.

MADRID, July 12.—It is asserted that the United States makes the following demands as conditions of peace:

1. The possession of Cuba and Porto Rico, with a port in the Canaries.
2. An indemnity of 48,000,000 pounds (about $240,000,000).
3. The retention of the Philippines as a guarantee of the payment of the indemnity.

NO OVERTURES YET MADE.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Secretary of State Day on entering the Cabinet to-day authorized the statement that no peace overtures of any kind had been made.

SEEKING THE SPANISH PRIVATEER.

VICTORIA, British Columbia, July 12.—In response to the request of United States Consul Deadley of Vancouver, Admiral Pulleser, commander of the Pacific British squadron, stationed at Esquimault, has dispatched H. M. S. Amphion, a second-class cruiser, carrying nine guns, and sloop of war Icarus, mounting eight guns, to cruise the waters of the North to search for the alleged privateer which according to reports that have reached the ears of the Consul, lies hidden in the vicinity of Dixon Entrance, the passage for south-bound treasure ships. The existence of such a privateer, however, is regarded as very doubtful, as no reliable reports regarding it have been received.

MAJ. WM. G. MOORE DEAD.

He Had an Eventful Career as Soldier, Journalist and Police Official.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Maj. Wm. G. Moore, for the past twelve years Superintendent of Police, died here to-day, aged 69 years. By reason of his varied experience and official connections, Maj. Moore was well known throughout the country. In early life he was a newspaper man and a reporter of Congressional debates.

When the civil war broke out he enlisted in a local military company, but soon afterwards was detailed for duty in the office of Simon Cameron, then Secretary of War, and also held the position of Adjutant-General of Volunteers. During a short portion of 1865, Mr. Moore filled the position of private secretary to President Lincoln, and after the latter was assassinated he continued in a similar position with President Johnson. In 1886 he became superintendent of the local police force.

THE DULLINGHAM PLATE.

It Was Won by J. R. Keene's Colt St. Cloud II.

LONDON, July 12.—At the Newmarket meeting the Dullingham Plate, 500 sovereigns, was won by James R. Keene's 4-year-old bay colt, St. Cloud II. The distance was one mile and three furlongs.

VERY HARD TIMES AT PORTO RICO.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 12.—Capt. McKenna of the British brig Ethel, who arrived here to-day from Arcelbo, Porto Rico, for orders, brings a story of great destitution at San Juan and other places, and a deep interest among the inhabitants of the island in the progress of the war.

Capt. McKenna left Arcelbo June 21. At that time reports from all parts of Porto Rico indicated a condition among the natives nearly bordering on starvation. Capt. McKenna said that while he was at Arcelbo he fed on an average 50 persons per day. Several American and British newspapers reached Capt. McKenna while he lay at Arcelbo and he says that the natives actually fought to get possession of them.

AMENDMENTS PROBABLY LOST.

against the City Hall push.

The only doubtful wards down town are the Fifth and Fourth. In the Sixth it is almost impossible for any frauds to be committed. The same cannot be said of all the down town wards.

In the West End the property owners are doing most of the voting. They are voting "no," too. The same condition prevails all over the city, practically.

Nothing will defeat the will of the people in this election but wholesale frauds on the part of those interested in the passage of the Charter amendments. It is not thought now it will be possible, even with a clear field for operations down town, for enough fraudulent votes and fraudulent counting to be done to overcome the majorities against the amendments which will be cast in other portions of the city.

Out of a total vote of 220 just 19 votes had been cast at 10:30 o'clock in the Ninth Precinct of the Fifth Ward at 1005 Walnut street. This is one of the heaviest voting precincts of the old First Ward.

In the Seventh Precinct of the Fifth Ward, 16 North Ninth street, at 10:30 o'clock 18 votes had been cast out of a total of 275.

In the Sixth Precinct of the Fifth Ward, polling place at 610 Walnut street, the total vote is 40, but only 13 had been voted at 10:45 o'clock.

In the First Precinct of the Fifth Ward, at 115 South Second street, 44 votes out of a total of 345 had been cast at 11 o'clock.

The Second Precinct of the Fifth Ward showed a total vote of 28 out of a registration of 423.

Only 14 of the 223 voters registered in the Fourth Precinct of the Fifth Ward had voted up to 10:30 o'clock.

The new election booth supplied the polling places Tuesday are a great improvement over the old style booths. The new booth guarantees absolute secrecy to the voter while he makes up his ballot. It consists of four uprights, about 2x4 and 7 feet long. These are spliced in a circle around a half table about the size of a barrel head. Around the top of these poles or legs extends a rod from which, in drapery style, a canvas hangs by rings. The voter enters the booth, draws the canvas around him and is completely hidden from view of spectators.

Mayor Ziegenhein failed to appear down town during the morning. Son Adam, when asked where "Uncle Henry" was, said that he was going to remain at home all day, he thought.

Every polling place is supplied with a policeman, but as Ziegenhein is the President of the Board of Police Commissioners and as this election is the closest thing to his heart, it is not presumed that many of the policemen would run around the block in pursuit of a fraudulent voter or that they would open their eyes very wide if the judges and clerks cast a few ballots during a lull in the voting.

In the Twelfth Precinct of the Fifteenth Ward, polling place at 1911 Olive street, where there are 175 voters, only 6 votes had been cast at 9 o'clock.

In the Eleventh Precinct of the Fifteenth Ward, on Eighteenth street, between Olive and Locust, where there are 176 votes, only 15 had been cast.

In Precinct One of the Fourteenth Ward, at 115 North Sixteenth street, where there are 194 votes, only 11 votes had been cast.

In the Third Precinct of the Fourteenth Ward, at 25 South Sixteenth street, where there are 374 votes, only 18 had been cast.

"DID WE VOTE? I GUESS."

In Precinct 2 of the Fourteenth Ward, at 1507 Olive street, only 16 votes had been cast at 9 o'clock out of a total of 150 votes.

In the Twelfth Precinct of the Fifth Ward, 1408 Clark avenue, only 15 votes were cast out of a total of 260 votes. At this polling place Edward Martin of 301 South Fourteenth street offered to vote. He had recently moved from 1404 Clark avenue. The judges refused at first to accept his vote, but he persisted there was no law that could deprive him of his vote when he had been given no opportunity to change his registration with his change of residence. The judges finally accepted his vote under protest.

It had been said that Adam Ziegenhein would undertake to vote at his new polling place, 1911 Olive street, but he said it was untrue and he would not try.

In the Second Precinct of the Twenty-fifth Ward, 1335 Old Manchester road, the judges appeared without commissions, and some time elapsed before these necessary documents could be procured from the office of the Election Commissioners.

At 1932 Wash street, the polling place of the Ninth Precinct of the Fifteenth Ward, the new railings designed to keep the crowd away from the election officers were found to be too long, and there was considerable trouble before the Election Commissioners got the railings reduced and the precinct affairs straightened out.

George Grassmuck, Jr., who was at work early for the charter amendments, said at 10 o'clock he was greatly discouraged and feared the amendments would be defeated.

Anonymous circulars were distributed throughout the city calling upon citizens to go to the polls and vote, no matter if they had changed their place of residence since the last registration.

Election Commissioner Saunders issued an order early Tuesday afternoon instructing the judges of election to allow all persons to vote who had moved in their own precinct and not outside since the last registration. This order was a long time coming and would have prevented a large display of anger had it come sooner.

At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon two arrests were made. Stephen Marshall, aged 19 years, colored, 1305 Market street, voted and was under age. He admitted his guilt. Alex Williams, colored, aged 22, was arrested at 1105 Chouteau avenue on suspicion of having voted fraudulently.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING.

Closing Day of the Big Convention at Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The last day's meeting of the National Educational Association began with sessions at the National Theater and Grand Opera House. The gathering at the latter place was one of the largest since the meeting. Supt. John R. McCahar presided at the National Theater. The report of the Committee on Normal Schools was to have been submitted, but Mr. Snyder said that the work was too much to accomplish at this time, and the appropriation for it had not been made until February last. The report will be submitted a year hence.

Supt. Edward P. Seaver, Boston; Supt. Richard Hardy of Michigan and Supt. McHenry Rhodes of Frankfort, Ky., spoke.

At the Grand Opera House the principal subject was women in their relations to schools. The meeting was presided over by Miss Margaret Sutherland of Ohio, Miss Arnold of Boston, Miss Margaret Evans of Northfield, Minn., Miss Betty Dutton of Cleveland, Miss Sarah Walter, Willamantic, Conn., and Miss Lillie Williams of Trenton, N. J., participating in the discussion.

PAIN'S "CUBANS" MUTINIED.

Assistant Stage Manager Will Now Carry the Spanish Flag.

The thoroughly American army of supernumeraries in Pain's "Cuba," at Athletic Park, mutinied against carrying the Spanish flag, as they were required to do in the pictured representation of Havana before the blowing up of the Maine. They notified Manager Raven they would carry the red and yellow banner no more. The performance was delayed 20 minutes before a substitute could be found for the flag-bearer. Hereafter Earle Stirling, the assistant stage manager, will represent the Spanish guidon.

LITTLE RAVITZ IS DEAD.

Lockjaw Followed a Trifling Fourth of July Accident.

Thirteen-year-old Jake Ravitz died in the City Hospital Monday night in all the agony entailed by lockjaw.

Death was due indirectly to Fourth of July fireworks, and Abe Liebert, the playful lad who fired the shot that resulted fatally, is under arrest charged with murder. He is only 11 years old.

On the evening of July 3, Ravitz was running along Carr street, between Seventh and Eighth streets, when young Leibert fired a blank cartridge which struck Ravitz on the right thigh. At the time of the injury it was regarded as slight, but the lad went home and a doctor was called. He said recovery was only a matter of a few days. The expected improvement did not come, and Sunday evening another doctor was called. He advised that the lad be sent to the City Hospital. He was taken there Monday morning, where he suffered intensely until death came to his relief.

The police arrested young Liebert at his home, 1031 North Tenth street. The parents of the dead boy live at 1021 North Tenth street. Owing to the tender years of the prisoner his punishment can not be more severe than a reform school sentence. It is likely, however, that he will be set free, since the evidence at hand tends to show that the shooting was accidental.

CRAVENS WAS A TEXAS KING.

Had a Fortune and Owned a Private Bank.

HARD TIMES CAME AND MEN WERE ALARMED.

WITHDREW THEIR MONEY AND CRAVENS CAME HERE FOR FUNDS.

THEN THEY TELEGRAPHED TO HAVE HIM ARRESTED.

Bright Young Fellow Says There Is No Foundation Whatever for the Charge of Forgery and He Will Return Home.

Joel W. Cravens sat in the holdover at the Four Courts Tuesday morning and calmly talked with a Post-Dispatch reporter about banks and bankers.

Cravens is the banker of Lufkin, Tex., who was arrested at the Moser Hotel in this city Monday night by local detectives on authority of a telegram from the Sheriff of the county in which Lufkin is situated. The telegram was a striking example of brevity and simply said arrest Cravens and hold him for forgery.

JOEL W. CRAVENS.

To find the Texas banker was an easy task, and he was soon lodged in the holdover. He denied the charge, but offered no resistance. He entered the holdover quietly, merely remarking that he would go back to Texas and face the charges.

Cravens is the proprietor of the Citizens Bank at Lufkin. It is a private institution which he capitalized and founded himself, a few years ago, when he came in possession of a fortune which his father gave him.

This Texas banker is a Missourian by birth, having been reared in Texas County. His father is the owner of vast land possessions there. Cravens is 26 years old. When his father gave him $12,000 as a starter in life the young man moved from Texas County to Texas State. He wanted a wide field for operation. He started the bank at Lufkin, a small village. He started a tobacco farm just outside the Limits of the little town. He built a pretty little cottage, which was the home of himself, his wife and baby. He built houses to rent. In short, it was only a little while until Cravens was looked upon as a king by the Texas villagers. His importance was made greater by reason of the fact that his wife is soon to inherit an immense fortune.

"I started out in Lufkin with the best of prospects," said Cravens to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "and made considerable money. But along this spring business was very dull and some of the local gossips began to wonder about the condition of the bank. Some of the more timid depositors commenced withdrawing, and the result was that my bank was crippled. Realizing that something had to be done, I left there a few days ago and came here to negotiate for the temporary use of additional capital, just as any other banker might do. I simply wanted to make everything safe.

"The charge of forgery is utterly false and absurd. There is no foundation whatever for that charge. I was president, cashier, proprietor and everything else connected with the bank; in fact, I am the bank, for it was capitalized with my own money.

"Will I try to avoid going back to Texas? Certainly not. I have no desire to stay away from there. I have money invested at Lufkin and my family is there. Of course I want to go back. I expect to have all of this trouble cleared up in a short while. Of course, I regret that I have been subjected to arrest, but, I have the satisfaction of knowing that I have committed no wrong and that my arrest is wholly without provocation.

"Here is the story in few words: Villagers are distrustful of banks. Business in every line has been dull for several months. The people jumped at the conclusion that while other branches of business were suffering my bank must be in the same way. Without knowing a thing against its condition they commenced to withdraw their deposits. Once started it was only natural that there should be something of a run. Then, when I left Lufkin to come up here, there was a general fright, and that I suppose is what caused the telegram to be sent to the detectives here. It is only ungrounded suspicion."

Cravens is of rather striking appearance. He dresses neatly, but not flashily. His smooth face is as chubby as a healthy babe, and there is pink in his cheeks. He talks like a man who had spent a life time in the banking business, and altogether, despite his youth, there is something solid in his appearance.

The accused banker has many friends in St. Louis among the wholesale men, and he was kept busy Tuesday receiving callers. An officer from Texas is expected to arrive in St. Louis Wednesday morning to take Cravens back to the scene of his troubles.

If you are tired and out of condition generally, Belcher Baths will tone you up.

FIRED MINES FOR CUBANS.

Daniel Quigley Blew Up Hundreds of Spaniards.

NOW A MEMBER OF THE ST. CHARLES COMPANY.

ARRIVAL OF SIXTH REGIMENT VOLUNTEERS AT JEFFERSON BARRACKS.

FIVE COMPANIES THERE AND THE LAMAR BAND.

Again the White City and the Appearance of Boys in Blue—Recruits Coming With Almost Every Train.

In Company G, 6th Regiment, which was recruited at St. Charles, and is now at Jefferson Barracks, there is a man who would be a valuable member of most any military organization.

His name is Daniel Quigley, and he served for two years and a half as an expert dynamiter in the Cuban insurgent army. Readers will remember accounts of the dynamiting of railroads, bridges and even Spanish forts by insurgents. Quigley did most of the work.

He speaks Spanish fluently and has an Irishman's ready wit. His right leg, just below the knee, was frightfully torn by a Mauser bullet while he was placing a charge of dynamite under the corner of a Spanish barracks building.

"We blew her up, just the same," says Quigley.

Quigley was a miner and had driven a nitro-glycerine wagon, about as dangerous an occupation as can be found. He was induced by the Cuban Junta to go into the Cuban army as a dynamiter. He was attached at various times to the staffs of Gens. Garcia, Gomez and Maceo, and did some excellent work.

"The best job we ever did," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "was when we blew up a bridge as a trainload of Spanish soldiers were passing over it, and dropped the whole lot, about 500, into a deep ravine. I don't believe a single one escaped.

"Our work was dangerous, of course. We planted the mines under the ties of the railroad, and then we had to hide in the woods, carrying with us the wire connection. We touched them off with a battery.

"We were here to-day and 50 miles away to-morrow. That is the way the Cubans fight. When I received this wound I was planting a mine under a Spanish barracks building. A sentry on top saw me and let fly. But he didn't stop the explosion. I was laid up a long time, but my leg is as good as ever now. After I returned to this country I had headquarters at Galveston and helped the Cubans from there."

Quigley has enlisted as a private in Company G.

The white city of the 6th is growing rapidly. Three companies camped there Monday night. A neat arrangement provides that the last company that arrives puts up the tents of the next company to come. Thus the St. Charles company had the tents ready for Capt. Berthold Ladd's Doniphan company, and Capt. Ladd's men put up tents for the Willow Springs company, which arrived Monday evening.

The Brookfield and Bloomfield companies and the Lamar band arrived Tuesday.

Capt. Ladd has a remarkable company. It is made up entirely of lumbermen—great, sturdy fellows, who know all about camp life and worship their captain.

His company was not organized without the spilling of blood. Alexander Sanders killed a young man named Dacus at Poplar Bluff because he thought Dacus had cut him out of the Second Lieutenantcy of the company.

The arrangements made by Col. Hardeman for the reception of the troops are perfect. Each company finds its tents up and cooking utensils, wood, canteens and rations ready when it arrives. The boxes of arms, uniforms and other equipment are piled high in the pavilion and will be issued as soon as all the companies arrive. Adjutant Hickman and Quartermaster Cordell arrived Tuesday and immediately took charge. Their arrival will relieve Col. Hardeman and Maj. Harrison of considerable work.

Wisely the 6th has been camped about half a mile from the immunes, and no serious trouble is expected between the whites and blacks. There is no need of their ever coming in contact.

Col. Hardeman expects to have the entire regiment in camp by the latter part of the week.

Four complete companies of Seventh Regiment immunes are in camp under Col. Goodwin at Jefferson Barracks. The fourth company arrived from Memphis, Tenn., Tuesday morning under command of Capt. W. E. H. Woldeck.

The three St. Louis companies—A, B and C—are commanded by Capts. Jacobs, Roemer and Lewis respectively.

The immunes have a well-kept camp and seem to take great pride in its neat appearance. They are kept busy drilling.

Gov. Stephens Tuesday announced the appointment of Dr. Keating Bauduy as Chief Surgeon of the Sixth Regiment. The appointment was made on the recommendations of Gen. Bell and Col. Hardeman.

It will give pleasure to all the officers, with whom Dr. Bauduy is popular. He has been serving on the State Board of Surgeons examining applicants for Surgeons' commissions.

Dr. M. S. McGuire of Arrow Rock, Mo., has been appointed a member of the Examining Board.

Companies from Willow Springs and California, Mo., arrived at Jefferson Barracks Tuesday morning, and the company from California arrived Monday evening. The three are commanded by Capts. Hughes, Goldman and Gordon respectively.

The camp is already quite extensive, with five companies in and their tents up. The regimental band from Lamar also arrived Tuesday morning.

It is probable that B. Kurt Stumberg of the St. Charles company, who is a physician, will be appointed hospital steward for the regiment.

The company from Brookfield has a mascot, a magnificent brown eagle, whose wings measure 7 feet from tip to tip. He is named Argus, and is thoroughly vicious, snapping at everything in reach.

Col. Hardeman is much pleased with the way the boys have taken hold of their new life. A score of awkward squads, some of them not so awkward, either, were drilling Tuesday morning.

MISSOURI OMAHA DAY.

Gov. Stephens Will Make a Speech on Aug. 30.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 12.—President F. M. Sterrett of the Missouri Omaha Exposition Commission, was here in consultation with Gov. Stephens and Secretary Carroll, relative to the make-up of the programme for "Missouri Day" at the Exposition, which will be celebrated on Tuesday, Aug. 30. The programme has not yet been completed, but it has been agreed that besides an address by the Governor, there will be short speeches by prominent representatives of the different political parties, and the list of speakers is already made up. The railroads have furnished a very low rate for this occasion, and the Mayor of every city and town in the State will be urged to co-operate in securing a large attendance. Gov. Stephens will be accompanied by his full staff, and special trains will be run from the principal points in the State.

CLEVELAND, O., July 12.—Down under the depths of Lake Erie are the bodies of 11 men, killed by a sudden and unaccountable explosion which occurred last evening while they were a mile or more out from the shore shaft of the big water inlet tunnel being built out into the lake to carry in the city water supply. How the men died or what caused their death may never be known, as no aid has been able to reach them because of the volume of gas in the tunnel. Under the most favorable circumstances the pit is a gruesome place. It is below the bottom of the lake at a sufficient depth to allow the bottom of the lake to form a substantial roof.

The plans contemplate extending out into the lake at least five miles. The work has extended already four and a half miles and has been fraught with trouble from the beginning. Seepage has caved it in. Quicksand beds have formed at unexpected points, and about six weeks ago an explosion at the shore shaft killed eight of the workmen. Last night's disaster brings the score of fatalities up to 19.

The last explosion occurred a few minutes before 6 o'clock, but nobody will ever be able to tell what caused it or how it happened, for every witness is dead and the bodies of all are lying where they fell 6000 feet under the lake. The only man in the tunnel who escaped death was Con O'Donnell, a lock tender, who was stationed 3700 feet from the shore. He heard the explosion or series of explosions. He says there was 10 of the shocks and the concussion was something terrible, for it threw him off his feet, and for hours he was in such a dazed condition that he could scarcely remember what had happened. He finally groped his way out and told what had occurred.

Two men, Patrick Vonseer and Martin McCauley, were the first to venture in the tunnel after the accident occurred. They made their way to a lock 5200 feet from the shore, but were there overcome by the gas, and fell to the floor. When they failed to return a young man named James Clemens, son of the man who was killed, and who was employed as a mule driver, went to their rescue. He found them almost unconscious, lying over a mule cart, and succeeded in helping them to the well at the shore end of the tunnel. The would-be rescuers say that all the lights were out beyond the 5000 feet lock and that they could not go any further.

A second rescuing party was made up of Patrick Gaytons, Mike McCauley, Dan Rogers, Barney Hughes and Ed Corbett. It failed utterly in accomplishing anything, as the tunnel was filled with foul gas and smoke. In an interview Ed Corbett said: "When we got out 5100 feet we found the electric lights were not burning from there on out. The gas and smoke were terrible. We had wet handkerchiefs over our noses and mouths, and went 200 feet further into the pitchy darkness, but the gas and smoke almost overcame us, and we were forced to return. Nothing can be accomplished in the way of getting the bodies until the tunnel is lighted and the sulphur gas and smoke are cleared out. It is sure death to try to reach the bodies now. As far out as we got the base of the tunnel was covered to the depth of a foot with a substance resembling snow in its appearance."

The work of clearing the tunnel of gas was commenced immediately, but the distance to the water end of the tunnel is so great that but little progress can be made. The first work will be the removal of the bodies from their dark resting place and then the causes will be looked into.

While work is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible toward reaching the scene of last night's explosion, there seems to be little if any prospects that any of the 11 workmen who were in the tunnel when the accident occurred will be found alive.

Mr. J. W. Reynolds, who is superintendent of the construction of the tunnel, stated today that he had not the slightest hope in the world of rescuing the men alive. He said that the pipe in which the air is forced into the tunnel ends about 500 feet nearer the shore than the workings where the men were employed when the explosion occurred. Owing to that fact the foul air and gases would be forced onto them before they would begin to escape into the other portion of the tunnel.

Should it happen that any of the men lived they would as speedily as possible make their way to the end of the pipe, where they would be assured of safety, for a time at least. As the air enters the tunnel from the pipe with considerable force, it would have a tendency to force back the foul air and create a space of at least 10 feet, where comparative safety would be assured.

Superintendent Kingsley of the waterworks department said to-day he had no reason to believe that there had been any cave-in at the point where the explosion occurred. Even though a considerable portion of the clay roof and sides of the tunnel caved in, there is but a small chance of water finding its way in, as the tunnel is 65 feet below the bed of the lake and the surrounding earth is unusually firm and compact.

The only thing with which the rescuers have to contend at present is the foul air and the chance of another explosion taking place.

DOCTOR HAS NO TOOLS

SAUTER, M. D., WON'T BE ABLE TO DO ANY SAWING AND STITCHING TO-DAY.

BURGLARS PAID HIM A VISIT.

Lady Upstairs Heard 'Em and Told 'Em to Go, Which They Did, With Much Plunder.

Dr. Edwin E. Sauter of 1329 North Seventh street is out one set of physicians' instruments, a few dollars in cash and no little amount of wearing apparel. The articles were confiscated by three bold burglars, who visited Dr. Sauter's office at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. They broke open the front door and entered the apartments without attracting undue attention.

Dr. Sauter was attending sick calls at the time, and the men evidently were informed through a confederate of his absence from the office. Hundreds of persons were on the street when the robbery was committed, but none attempted to foil the housebreakers. The Fourth District Police Station is only a few blocks away, yet a blue coat near Dr. Sauter's office was at a premium.

The looting was skillfully planned. One of the robbers stood guard at a rear door, a second kept watch at the front entrance, while the third man ransacked the premises. Mrs. Mary Ohio, who resides on the second floor of the house, heard the sound of footsteps below and, believing the wily sneak thief was at work, she hastened downstairs with broomstick in hand. She promptly encountered a gruff looking citizen, who instantly commanded her, under threat of punishment, to mind her own affairs. Mrs. Ohio is a plucky woman, and she was not to be repulsed so easily.

"You must leave here," she said firmly, "as neither of you, I know, has any business at this office."

The burglars took the cue and departed with their plunder, and slapping Mrs. Ohio on the back and congratulating her on her bravery.

As they retreated north on Seventh street Mrs. Ohio followed, screaming "Stop thief!" at the top of her voice. A large crowd joined in the chase, but the fugitives distanced their pursuers.

When Dr. Sauter returned to his office and found the furniture turned topsy-turvy and his valuable instruments gone he went directly to the police station and raised a storm. He said his losses would greatly inconvenience him in his surgical operations and that the instruments could not be easily replaced.

The police said they would begin a thorough investigation. Then they concealed the news from the press. No clews to the culprits' whereabouts have thus far been obtained.

A MURDER MYSTERY.

Body of a Man Loaded With Stones Found at Alexandria, Mo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALEXANDRIA, Mo., July 12.—Detectives have been sent for to try and solve the mystery surrounding the death of an unknown man, who was found in the river near Curt's Island, just below here.

Two young man from Keokuk, while out in a boat, found a body with the pocket of the clothes filled with stones. They notified Justice Davis, who held an inquest immediately. It was found that the head showed unmistakable marks of violence and that the man had been murdered.

The man was about 5 feet 8 inches in height and wore a black coat, slouch hat, black shirt and badly worn, patched trousers. A cooper from Kansas City named Jack Kimball has been missing for several days and endeavors will be made to identify the body as his or find him.

THE TOWN IS BURNING.

Oakland, Md., Was in Flames When the Wires Went Down.

OAKLAND, Md., July 12.—A destructive fire started this morning in the largest general store here. The flames are spreading rapidly and half the town is threatened with destruction.

Assistance has been asked by telegraph from Cumberland and Piedmont fire departments. Traffic by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has been blockaded by the flames and the Western Union telegraph poles are burning.

At this point communication between Baltimore and Oakland by telegraph was broken off and no further information could be obtained.

Oakland is the county seat of Garret County, with a population of about 1200. It is a noted summer resort.

Shortly after noon wire connections were made some distance outside the town and the following bulletin sent out:

"Oakland fire under control. Loss will not exceed $20,000. No casualties."

THE FOURTH EXPEDITION.

All Preparations Made to Send More Men to Help Dewey.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 12.—The fourth expedition to the Philippines will number 1730. With Major-General Otis will sail Brigadier-General Hughes, chief of staff of the Department of the Pacific; Lieutenant-Colonel Barry, Assistant Adjutant-General; Maj. Mallory, Inspector-General; Capt. Charles McClure, Judge Advocate; First Lieutenant Sladen, Aide. The remaining members of the staff will go to Manila next week on the City of Rio and join him on that vessel on its arrival at Honolulu. They are: Capt. H. Belford, Assistant Adjutant-General; Capt. C. A. Devol, Assistant Quartermaster; Capt. C. C. Walcutt, Assistant Quartermaster.

The 7th California will go to Manila if present plans are not altered. The 300 men of the 6th Artillery who will sail on the Peru with their guns have nearly all had long experience, and many of them are expert marksmen.

Ninety horses and 120 mules will be sent to Manila on the ship Tacoma. They will be cared for by Veterinary Surgeon Plummer of the 4th Cavalry and a detail of 30 men.

The State Medical Institute Discovers a Remarkable Remedy for Lost Vigor.

ARE SENDING FREE A TRIAL PACKAGE TO ALL WHO WRITE.

Free samples of a most remarkable remedy are being distributed by the State Medical Institute, Ft. Wayne, Ind. It cured so many men who had battled for years against the mental and physical suffering of lost manhood that the Institute has decided to distribute free trial packages to all who write. It is a home treatment, and all men who suffer with any form of sexual weakness resulting from youthful folly, premature loss of strength and memory, weak back, varicocele, or emaciation of parts can now cure themselves at home.

The remedy has a peculiarly grateful effect of warmth that seems to act direct to the desired location, giving strength and development just where it is needed. It cures all the ills and troubles that come from years of misuse of the natural functions and has been an absolute success in all cases. A request to the State Medical Institute, 284 First National Bank Building, Ft. Wayne, Ind., stating that you desire one of their free trial packages, will be complied with. The Institute is desirous of reaching that great class of men who are unable to leave home to be treated and the free sample will enable them to see how easy it is to be cured of sexual weakness when the proper remedies are employed. The Institute makes no restrictions. Any man who writes [illegible] be sent a free sample, carefully sealed in a [illegible] package so that its recipient need have [illegible] embarrassment or publicity. Readers [illegible] to write without delay.

FAST GRAND MASTER CERVERA.

In utterly defeating Cervera, Commodore Schley did not simply meet and place hors du combat an old man unfitted by training to be a worthy foeman. If education and experience could have served Cervera in such a crisis, he was amply possessed of both. His biographers say:

"Cervera is possessed of technical knowledge of a high degree, having spent a good part of his service in voluntary hard study in all the new naval advances. He is a master of modern artillery. He is an expert on explosives and well versed in the ramifications and complex science of torpedoes."

This reads like irony now, but it goes to show that technical scholarship is not everything. Possibly Cervera was too much of a student. He knew a vast deal theoretically, but was unable to put his knowledge in practice when the critical time arrived.

The death of Mr. Charles E. Barney causes sincere grief. Mr. Barney endeared himself to his friends by the most generous qualities of mind and heart. He was surely in the front rank of Western business men, and in all things affecting the interest of St. Louis he was a public spirited citizen, contributing in no small way to the prestige of the city. His loss will be severely felt among his business friends, and especially by his associates, who best knew his qualities of head and heart.

Historian John R. Spears' graphic pen picture of the destruction of Cervera's fleet, in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, will make the right kind of newspaper clipping to place in scrapbooks, for the edification of the generation now too youthful to appreciate what is going on. It is the best account of the battle yet written.

The awful intelligence comes thumping over the wires that "a shock was given to the Boston sense of fitness by the proposal to send a hostile fleet against the Spanish peninsula." This is shocking indeed. Why will not our government consider Boston sense and sensibility, and conduct this war in a genteel, lady-like fashion?

A LADY-LIKE QUESTION.

The appearance of young women in Kansas as farm laborers, driving the machinery, is another subject for profound thought.

Every field, including the grain field, is now open to women. Men are dispensed with all around except for fighting. Can any man contemplate this without misgiving?

The ladies are steadily advancing all along the line. The lady barber, the saleslady, the lady cashier have won and hold their positions, and now come the lady reaper and mower, the lady binder and the lady thresher.

Where is it to end? When Maud Muller raked the meadow sweet with hay, she made one man's heart ache, but what is she doing now? She, too, has machines, like the men who shoot the guns, and she is raking down the whole masculine gender. In the near future we may expect that time already alluded to darkly—a husbandless time, "when the men are all transported, far beyond the Arctic Sea." Women get along very well by themselves; may be they will get along without husbands. Then what, O what, will become of the little children? That's what!

It is fortunate for St. Louis that the New Yorkers cannot realize what an ideal summer resort climate we have, or they would migrate here in a body, overcrowding our street cars and causing a variety of such annoyances.

Heartfelt thanks from soldier boys at Chickamauga for the Post-Dispatch supply train continue to come in. The Post-Dispatch and the good people of Missouri are once more discovering that a good action is its own reward.

THE SCHOOL OF MINES.

Missouri may well be proud of her School of Mines, which has just published its catalogue for the current year.

It is not generally known that the course of study at this important branch of the State University is free. And as the cost of living in and around Rolla, where the school is situated, is very low, Missourians and others who wish to learn mining and metallurgy can do so with very little cost.

Missouri is a great mining State, and her School of Mines is a practical and comprehensive institution. There is no need for her young people to go elsewhere to perfect themselves in this great and growing sphere of the world's work.

There is more real history, of the thrillingly realistic kind, in a week's issues of the Post-Dispatch these days than is to be found in the school textbooks.

WHAT WINS VICTORIES.

When Capt. Philip of the Texas, after the battle of Santiago, exclaimed "I believe in God the Father Almighty," and called upon his men to give God the praise, he uttered the sentiment which lies behind victory.

Men who do things are men of trust. They rely upon a higher and greater power than their own little selves. Sometimes the power is conceived as a personal being, sometimes as an impersonal principle. But however understood it is recognized as the source of life and the giver of victory.

The most striking and noteworthy characteristic of this power is that it is always on the side of right. The occasional successes of wrong appear to be preliminary to a completer triumph of right, which is vindicated in the end. This makes history a cheerful study.

The Anglo-Saxon man seems to have this trust in fullest measure. He has won his victories and placed himself in the forefront of civilization because he has been willing to subordinate his individual interests to the greater purpose of humanity. And he will maintain his position while he sturdily adheres to these principles of self-sacrifice in perfect trust.

DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION

Post-Dispatch Readers Discuss the Question, "Who Owns It?"

The Doctor Owns It.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I want to give my views in this discussion about who owns a prescription. Four years ago I bought them at the rate of about two a week, I think. I have bought none others since, and regained my health when I quit buying them. I can settle the question. The doctor owns the prescription, and he ought to keep it to himself.

St. Louis. NOT A PATIENT.

The Druggist's Great Responsibility.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I do not see very much room for question as to who owns the prescription. Ask the doctors, and, if they are honest, you will find that every doctor has been under obligations to some druggist for the correction of errors in the original prescription. Remember, too, that there is nobody to correct the druggist's error. He is unquestionably, as it is now, owner of the original.

St. Louis. DRUGGIST.

File It With the State.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Does it not strike you that neither the physician nor the patient nor the druggist should own prescriptions. The law should provide that they be handed to a State officer, who could produce them whenever they were wanted. A further rule should be that no prescriptions should be refilled without the doctor's order. This the druggist should be allowed to obtain so that it should not be an extra fee to the doctor.

St. Louis. A READER.

A Bald Head's View.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I want to give my experience on the question of the ownership of a prescription.

I went to a high-priced specialist for a harmless prescription. I'll be honest about it—I was getting bald. I had it filled and the druggist refused to give me back the prescription or a copy, because, he said, the doctor was very particular, and that some patients foolishly abused themselves by having a prescription refilled and refilled, when they should never have taken more than the first bottle. He applied the same rule to my hair restoring lotion. It was a ridiculous application of a very good rule, but he said that he had one rule and that was all there was about it. The doctor's intentions were good and the druggist, in nine cases out of ten, was right in following the rule. But if the question was settled as to who owns the prescription, we would not have had any dispute.

St. Louis. INTERESTED.

Doctor Should File It.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I think that the doctor should own and file the prescription. It should be returned to him by the druggist, just as the marriage license is returned to the Recorder by the minister who performs the ceremony. Then we have a custodian, who must produce the prescription if there is a necessity for it.

St. Louis. RHEUMATISM.

The Patient Owns the Prescription.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"Patient" is right in his view. The prescription is his. His title is acquired just as the title to any other property. He bought it, and in a court of law I believe he could oblige the druggist to deliver to him the original. FELLOW PATIENT.

St. Louis.

Belongs to the Druggist.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"Patient's" question as to who owns a filled prescription is easily answered. It belongs to the druggist. Otherwise, in the event of an error on the part of the doctor, which might cause death, what evidence would the druggist have that he had properly filled the prescription and was not at fault? That settles it promptly.

The Post-Dispatch Supply Train.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Having received news from Chickamauga Park that the box which I sent down there arrived safe and sound, I herewith would like to send my hearty thanks to the Post-Dispatch for their kind forethought in doing such a good deed for our soldiers, and hope sincerely their efforts have been rewarded, as many a soldier was made happy who otherwise would not have been.

A Soldier's Thanks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Last week my father sent you $5 to be expended for a box of canned supplies, etc., and to be sent on the Post-Dispatch supply car for July 4.

The box arrived in due time and I take this means of thanking you for the trouble and time that were expended in making the purchases. I want to thank you furthermore for the wise selection of the things that a soldier wants and needs. Many in this company received boxes in your car and feel very grateful to your paper for the kindness extended to us. Feeling myself deeply indebted for this favor and hoping to be able to repay at a future date, I am yours very respectfully,

Malarious Ponds.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As you right so many wrongs, can you not inform us if there is no way or law compelling property owners to either fill up ponds or sewer vacant lots, so as to banish the vile odors and malarious exhalations that emanate from such pools? The two such lots on Pine boulevard east of Taylor avenue, threaten much sickness in the neighborhood, but the Board of Health seems asleep.

Working for Indorsements.

From the Paris (Mo.) Appeal.

Gov. Stephens is moving heaven and earth to get an indorsement of his administration, and may succeed. Did any one ever hear of Gov. Phelps, Gov. Hardin, Gov. Marmaduke or Gov. Stone working for a personal indorsement of their administrations? Those grand governors would sooner have had their right arm taken off with a buzz-saw than to have gone up and down the length and breadth of the State urging Democrats to indorse their administrations. But Gov. Stephens is not built that way.

Under Compulsion.

From the Glasgow Missourian.

At last Governor Stephens has issued commissions to the officers of the Missouri volunteers. The appointees and their friends at home raised such a howl about what seemed a plain intention on the part of the Governor to make political capital out of the commissions that he was practically compelled to issue them.

An Inglorious War Governor.

From the St. Joseph (Mo.) Record.

It begins to appear that Lonnie Stephens will not get much glory out of the present war. His patriotism has been completely overshadowed by his foolish desire to pose as a great war governor and a great man. Every time Lon makes a movement he makes another ass out of himself.

A CUBAN TALISMAN.

A touching feature of the hopeful and prayerful Cuban character is described by Grover Flint where it came under his notice. It was a little emblem, consisting of a scalloped strip of white flannel, embroidered in silk floss, with a crimson heart, a green cross and a scroll of leaves, and the motto in Spanish, "Cheer up; the heart of Jesus is with me." It is worn pinned to the shirt, and is a talisman so far as danger is concerned, as well as a passport among the insurgents in Santa Clara and Santiago. It is made by the wives and daughters of the Cubans, and is worn to-day wherever a native is struggling for liberty and independence.

A BELATED TELEGRAM.

Jane was going to be married. The contract was all ready to be signed that very evening, and the notary, with her fiance, were to come down from town by the same train in time for dinner (Jane's father lived in the country), but as the happy groom-elect was never known to be on time in any of his appointments Jane's papa had privately sent off a telegraphic dispatch half an hour ago, saying to the young man, "Do not come too late," so now all was in readiness.

The eventful night had come, the guests for the ceremony of signing the contract had arrived and all was prepared. The little bride-to-be began to feel nervous as the hour drew near for Jean's arrival. Wheels on the drive! She flew to the door. The notary alone had come by the 6 o'clock train—no Jean. Twenty times at least she had gone to the end of the long terrace to catch a glimpse of his approach, but nothing met her view.

"Bah," said her father, "do not fidget so, my child, he will come by the 8 train. He is very charming, this lover of yours, but he is always late."

"O, papa!"

"Yes, yes, always behind time."

At 8 o'clock they sent again to the station, but no Jean was there. Dinner was served without him, Jane trying bravely to be cheerful with her guests, but as the hours passed and no lover appeared she could bear it no longer. She left the room and ran to the end of the terrace, where she could weep in solitude, but a young cousin—a fine looking young fellow—had followed her, and said gently: "You weep, Jane." Jane sobbed out: "O, think what an affront—how can I face all these people?"

"Do you love him so much?"

"No, not so much now, but I was happy in being married; all my schoolmates at the convent are married already.

Jacques smiled. "Never mind," said he, "we'll find another husband for you."

"You think that so easy? Papa was a long time selecting Jean."

"But suppose I know of another; eh, little cousin?"

Jane answered joyously: "Ah, then I should quickly give Jean his dismissal; but, O, dear, when I think that all the arrangements are made, that to-morrow the wedding guests will be here—I feel as if I should die with shame, I wish I could"—

"Foolish girl, there is no need for that; to-morrow you shall be a bride. There will be no excuses to make to the guests. The bridegroom of whom I speak will ask nothing better than to marry you at once, for he loves you, he has loved you for years, but did not dare to tell his love because he believed that you loved the other, and if you marry him to-morrow he will be the happiest of men." Struggling with emotion he ceased for a moment, then said softly:

"Little cousin."

"Jacques."

Do not come too late
Do not come; too late

"I BELIEVE IT WAS YOU I LOVED."

"Well?"

"Well, I do not regret this. I will not give him another thought. Bring your friend here."

Jacques took her hand. "Have you not divined that it is I who love you, who adore you, who has loved you for years? I know I am not a sentimental fellow like the other, but my heart is yours alone."

Jane thought for a moment, then said quietly: "Jacques, I believe it is you I have loved, after all, without knowing it, for as you spoke just now my heart beat with joy. But come, let us go to papa—the notary is here; there is nothing to do but change the name in the contract, and to-morrow we will be married. We will leave directly after the wedding breakfast, and when the other comes he will find me gone."

They laughed together like children and ran to explain matters to her father, who was not quite so ready to accept the situation.

"Why, you stupid fellow, did you never speak before?"

"Because Jane was rich and I poor."

"But now"——

"Now I, too, am rich. A distant relative has left me all his fortune of 200,000 francs, which enables me to ask the hand of Jane without being regarded as a fortune hunter."

The father speedily became reconciled to the change of bridegroom, saying: "All is prepared; the priest will be here to-morrow and the marriage will take place after all. And when the other comes how furious he will be! But he will be as he always is—too late."

The New York Giants yesterday had the pleasure of pushing the Browns one notch lower in the League race.

After letting the Giants make seven runs in the first two innings the Browns were unable to score more than four and with one run in the seventh and two in the eighth the New Yorks won by a score of 10 to 4.

The Browns play the Giants again to-day. After the games in New York the St. Louis team goes to Brooklyn, where they play games on Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday next. They go to Boston from Brooklyn.

Jack Crooks is so tired of playing on a losing team that he did not show up for yesterday's game. Dowd played second and Sugden right. Did they miss Jack? Read the answer in the score.

Breitenstein, the $10,000 beauty, is making a very poor showing as a pitcher this year. In almost every game in which he takes part he is relieved by some one. It is said that he is losing all control of the ball since he wrenched his arm, and that he will be forced to retire before many moons. "Breit" started to pitch fair ball at the first of the season, but is making a poor finish.

Despite Breitenstein's poor work, the Cincinnati Reds still hold a good lead in the race for the League pennant. These figures give the Reds' individual records, including Thursday's game with the Orphans:

Henry Chadwick says: "Looking over some scraps of 1892 the other day I found the following paragraph about the New York Club of that year, then under the joint management of Messrs. John B. Day and James Mutrie. Quoting from the official report of the treasurer of the club for 1892, it stated that 'despite the fact that the gate receipts for the season reached $88,940, it ends the season owing $20,000 and over. Its salary list was $40,064, not including $6800 for official salaries, and that, too, exclusive of President Day's salary. The club paid no less than $23,000 to visiting clubs. Its traveling expenses were $11,244; rent, advertising, legal, and general expenses, $23,996. It began the season with a deficit from 1891 of $7670, and it closed the season with a deficit of over $29,000, of which $13,102 is due for players' salaries.' Just think of a professional club in such hard times in professional baseball as existed in 1892, taking in nearly $90,000 and yet closing the season with an indebtedness of $29,000, and in debt one-third of that amount to its players! Such was the practical result of the players' revolt of 1890, and the demoralization in 1891."

Ex-Umpire Heydler, who sent in his resignation to President Young last week, says he did so because Freedman upbraided him and tried to intimidate him last Monday, because of his calling Davis out on a slide to second. According to Heydler, Freedman wrote to all the club presidents asking their influence against the umpire. Heydler was scared out pretty easily. He must have been sick of his job.

In accordance with a policy of retrenchment the Buffalo players have been given the alternative of a 20 per cent reduction in salary or immediate release. Toronto will try a similar plan. President Young has been asked how long a season will be necessary for the Eastern League to retain its territory and reservation rights and has answered: "If the Eastern League will play all its games up to Aug. 1, and will pay the salaries of players in full up to Sept. 1 it will be allowed to retain its territory, but not otherwise."

AT WESTERN TRACKS.

THE PRESIDING JUDGES WORKING HARD THIS YEAR TO KEEP RACING CLEAN.

SOME VERY RECENT RULINGS.

Owners and Jockeys Ordered Away From Both the St. Louis and Washington Park Courses.

The judges at all Western tracks have tried hard this year to keep the racing clean and above suspicion.

In a great measure, too, they have succeeded in their efforts, but despite the great precautions they have taken to prevent fraud the thieves in many instances have gotten in their work.

Within the past few days there has been a general cleaning out, and this recent work of the judges is probably the result of long continued watching and waiting and the verdict has not been rendered until the guilt of the acused has been proven beyond any reasonable doubt.

Even at Washington Park, Chicago, the highest toned race course in the West, the edict has gone out that only the cleanest racing will be tolerated there in the future and this announcement has been accompanied by the ruling off of several well-known turfmen.

At the Fair Grounds yesterday Judge Murphy ordered one owner and his horses from the track and served notice on others. Race track officials have come to recognize the fact that only clean racing well be tolerated by those who support the racing game and they propose to keep it clean or know the reason why.

The racing at the Fair Grounds yesterday was by no means satisfactory to the public. In the second race Reuben Rowett, the favorite, ran so badly that he and his owners were ordered from the track and Jockey Johnnie Gorman, who rode the horse, was suspended indefinitely. Helen H. Gardner, who closed at 12 to 1, won this race handily.

Barney Schrieber's Miss Marion again proved herself a good filly by beating a field of 11 2-year-olds in the third race.

The old reliable David led all the way in the fourth and in the fifth Go to Bed came at the finish and beat Basquil home by a length.

The last race saw Silver Set lead from flag fall to finish. She was quoted at 30 to 1, and her wonderful race gave a lot of people an awful shock.

The second week of the racing at Washington Park closed on Saturday with an exceptionally good day's sport, marred by one bad-looking performance, which, though the judges took notice of it, they hardly punished with the severity it deserved. On the whole the racing during the meeting has been clean, though there have been some remarkable reversals of form, which caused an unpleasant jar to the feelings of lovers of the sport, and which have not—at all events, so far as is known—been visited by judicial displeasure. In the opening race Saturday the wretched performance of Dave Waldo, who was at a false price in the betting, could not very well escape notice, and the merely refusing to accept any more entries from the stable is slight punishment for what must have seemed to the judges, as it did to the general public, a crooked race.

Despite the war excitement the racing game in the East appears to be a better one than it is out here. Jimmy McCormick, talking about the Eastern game, says: "Down East the race tracks are making lots of money, even more than in the old days. At Brooklyn recently I saw 60 bookmakers working in the free field. These gentry pay $20 per day each and this amounting to $1200 materially helps out the association. Maybe 75 regular bookmakers pay $75 apiece, and the general admission is $2. I understand the Brooklyn meeting cleared up $60,000. Outside of New York and Chicago the greatest racing point is San Francisco, where in Ingleside and Oakland are two of the finest tracks in America, and when accommodations for horses and horsemen are considered maybe they are the finest in the world."

Three of the stables racing at Latonia earned as much as $5000 at the late meeting. George A. Singerly, by reason of Han d'Or's victory in the Derby, heads the list of winning owners with $8100 to his credit. Talbot Bros., with the Himyar to John Bright's credit are second with $6275 as their earnings, and Ed Corrigan, whose filly Sardonic captured the rich Oaks, comes next with $5000 to his credit. Will Wallace is a bang up fourth, the young Kentuckian's horses having taken in stakes and purses $4690. C. F. McLean's string earned $3325. Thirteen others secured as much as $1000, as follows: J. B. Respess & Co., $1945; W. H. Landeman, $1890; W. F. Shulte, $1880; Robinson & Moore, $1825; George J. Long, $1580; R. H. Bronaugh & Co., $1497; W. T. Selirs, $1485; H. Mack & Co., $1305; J. T. Stewart, $1300; L. H. Exell, $1260; McChesney & Orts, $1219; J. Welch, $1190, and J. H. Smith, $1010.

The others whose earnings amounted to as much as $500 each are as below:

H. T. Griffin	$620	Baker & Gentry	$865
J. T. Weaver & Co.	525	W. Showalter	785
M. Simpson	540	W. H. McCorkle	595
E. Carroll	510	Scott Williams	515
B. G. Thomas	595	C. M. Sexton	720
James Smith	565	Clay & Woodford	560
T. H. Blackburn & Co.	655	W. J. Donohue	780
J. Carroll	505	Dan O'Brien	802
J. W. O'Neill	510	Doyle & McGuire	851
J. Weber	590	Patterson & Pierce	739
H. B. Durham	710	L. P. Tarlton	605
H. G. Atkins	525	C. Rice & Co.	515
J. S. Wadsworth	710	C. S. Brownell	530

Jockeys Jesse Everett and Jesse Matthews carried off the riding honors at the Latonia meeting, Everett having 24 firsts to his credit as against 23 for Matthews. Conley was third on the list of winning jockeys with 18 winners as his share. Dupee, up to the time he left here, had ridden 12 winners; Britton rode 11; Nutt, Barrett, Crowhurst and C. Clay, each 10; Southard, 9; Vandusen, 6, and T. Knight, 5.

THE POSTOFFICE CLERKS.

They Will Have Their Annual Road Race Next Sunday Morning.

The Postoffice Clerks' Annual Road Race will take place over the course in Forest Park next Sunday at 7:30 a. m. A large crowd of the boys' friends are to be present and a good hard race is expected. Gold medals are to be the first time and place prizes, besides other prizes for the less unfortunate ones. Twenty-five men are going to start.

Browns Reserves Won.

The game of ball Sunday at Sportsman's Park between the Browns Reserves and Bonner Millers resulted in a victory for the Reserves by a score of 5 to 1. The batteries were: Reserves, Heffernan and Winklemeier; Millers, Eagan and Marshall.

The Little Ballplayers.

The Manhattans added another victory to their long list yesterday by defeating the Young Men's Literary Society Baseball team by the score of 26 to 3. The feature of the game was the batting of Sam Nathanson, he making three home runs. For games apply to Sam Burnstein, 1635 Carr street.

FITZ JOINS THE ARMY.

THE WELL-KNOWN ST. LOUIS BOOKMAKER GOES WITH A TENNESSEE REGIMENT.

A LETTER TELLS THE TALE.

According to It Gov. Taylor Has Appointed the Old St. Louis Penciler a First Lieutenant.

The racing world will read with surprise to-day the statement that Edward M. Fitzgerald, better known as plain "Fitz," the best known bookmaker in the West, has quit the racing game for good.

"I have joined the army. Gov. Taylor has just appointed me First Lieutenant, Company C, of the 3d Tennessee Volunteers."

That is the substance of a letter received by Peter Daily from Fitzgerald this morning and read aloud to a lot of the latter's friends who had assembled in Stanley's cigar store on Olive street. The letter came from Chattanooga, Tenn., where Fitzgerald has been located the past few weeks.

Before leaving St. Louis early this summer Fitzgerald told his friends that he was going to Tennessee to seek an army appointment from Gov. Taylor and expected to leave for the seat of war as soon as he had secured it. Judging only by the tone of his letter, Fitz has been successful in his mission.

Fitzgerald will be missed from the Fair Grounds ring, where his familiar face and figure and jolly disposition have been fixtures so long. "Fitz" was about the last of the old guard of bookmakers remaining here. He was associated with Dick Roche in the palmy days of the St. Louis poolrooms and later he was with the Ullmans and Donovan and Brady on the East Side track. He also did business on the Madison course in its halcyon days, and last winter and summer he was associated in the booking line with Barney Schreiber and Walter Hayden.

WITH THE BOXERS.

All Arrangements Completed for the Corbett and McCoy Mill.

Last night at New York the contest between Jim Corbett and Kid McCoy was clinched by George Considine of Detroit, who signed the articles of agreement drawn up by the Hawthorne Athletic Club of Buffalo for Corbett. McCoy's signature had already been secured. The battle will be for 20 rounds for a purse of $20,000, and will be decided on Aug. 27.

Corbett's managers will do their best to have the fight switched from Buffalo to New York City, as they are afraid to meet McCoy on his own stamping ground in the former city. That is the plan now. But it will hardly carry, as McCoy knows his business better than any one and will not go to a point where there is a chance of his getting even a shade the worst of it.

Martin Julian, George Considine and Jim Corbett had a "run in" in an uptown resort in New York the other morning. At times the argument waxed so warm that it was thought the trio would come to blows. However, better counsel prevailed and no one was hurt.

Considine espoused Corbett's course and told Julian that Bob Fitzsimmons was being mismanaged, and that under some one else's guidance the champion would surely have been more popular.

"I'll fight Fitzsimmons any time," said Corbett. Julian responded by saying that the only thing necessary for Corbett to do was to post a forfeit, which Julian said would be promptly covered.

Corbett declared he would do this if his match with "Kid" McCoy fell through. But as it did not, Corbett will quit talking about a fight with Fitz for the time being at least.

Hamp Ireland says Bob Douglas does not have to leave St. Louis to find his match. Hamp has $250 which he wants to wage on his ability to lick Bob. The latter will probably make Hamp put up or shut up without delay.

THE CINCINNATI REDS.

Tom Burns Thinks Their Chances of Winning the Pennant Are Good.

Tom Burns of the Chicago Club is one of the many who think the Cincinnati Reds stand a good chance of winning the pennant.

"What do you think of the Reds' chances?" some one asked Burns the other day.

"Their chances are just as good as any team in the League," was the reply. "There are three other teams that I rate about on a par with the Cincinnatis. I think the Baltimores, Bostons and Clevelands are in the same class as the Reds. The pennant will go to one of this quartette of clubs. Which one I do not care to predict. The Reds, however, have just as good a show as any of them."

"How has the Chicago Club been drawing at home?"

"Immense," said the Chicago manager, enthusiastically. "Our business has been enormous all year. Up to and including the Fourth of July games, in all about 40, we have played to over 200,000 people. This is an average of about 5000 people to every game."

THE EASTERN LEAGUE.

A Reduction in Salaries to Be Made by the Clubs of This Organization.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 11.—The meeting of the Eastern League, held here to-day, resulted in a cut of 20 per cent being decided on on all salaries, same to take effect from July 1. Billy Brady has had enough of baseball, and the Rochester franchise is now in the hands of President Pat Powers. Many of the players will not accept the reduction, but it is hard to see just how they can avoid it, as from telegrams which Powers says he received it is quite evident that a combination exists between the Eastern, Atlantic, Western and National Leagues. He says that President Young is cognizant of what has been done; that a reduction has been made in Western League salaries, and that one would be made at the meeting of the Atlantic League, which was to have been held to-day. One of the local and two of the Buffalo players have already quit and a number more will follow, leaving the team in a badly crippled condition.

To-Night's L. A. W. Meet.

To-night at the Cottage in Forest Park the Missouri Division, L. A. W., will hold its annual meeting and the nomination of officers, to be voted on at the election to take place next fall, will then be made. Mr. Lucas will refuse to stand for a renomination as Chief Consul. He has had all the honors in that direction he cares for. E. Garth Billingsley and W. W. Belding are the only candidates so far mentioned for his position. It is said that they have the approval of the old timers. Mr. Louis Rosen will, it is stated, nominate Mr. Belding to succeed himself as secretary-treasurer. It is the general opinion that Mr. Belding will make an ideal officer if elected.

The Cricket Players.

The absence of Mr. A. C. Edmond, and the fact of Robinson being "hors de combat" from the effects of an accident, deprived the Juniors of the services of their best bowlers in the match against the Veterans on Saturday, and enabled the latter to keep them in the field for three long hours, while the "old 'uns" put up the creditable score of 168. Such "leather hunting" has not been witnessed in St. Louis since the days of Lycett and Banning 20 years ago. Darby's innings of 34 was a pretty exhibition of clean and sound cricket, and Dr. Murray, the Rev. Mr. Duckworth and Capt. Ratcliffe contributed their usual "double figures." Edwards is shaping up very well. His wrist work reminds one of A. J. Webbe.

RECRUITS OFF TO CHARLESTON.

Gen. Miles Wants Soldiers and Their Wagon Trains.

NO GENERAL ORDERS FOR A MOVEMENT.

CAMP THOMAS VOLUNTEERS HELD IN RESERVE FOR PORTO RICO.

DEATH OF SERGT. WOOD FROM CARTHAGE, MO.

Pioneer Corps and a Corps of Sharpshooters Being Formed at Chickamauga for Service in the Cuban Campaign.

CHICKAMAUGA, Ga., July 12.—At an early hour to-day several hundred recruits for the 1st Brigade, 1st Division, 1st Corps, which left Camp Thomas for Charleston several days ago, marched to Ringgold, Ga., where they went aboard a special train for Charleston. These recruits were sent on to join the command by order of Gen. Miles.

Before his departure for Santiago, Gen. Miles wired Gen. Brooke directing that the soldiers mentioned, as well as the wagon trains of the three regiments, be rushed at once to Charleston. In consequence of this order all hands were turned toward securing equipment and transportation for the men mentioned in the order. In all about 1000 soldiers were left here by the three regiments, the majority of them belonging to the 15th Pennsylvania. Since the departure of that regiment an extra company, one of the 3d Battalion, has arrived at Camp Thomas. During the past several weeks the recruits have been receiving their supplies and they are now well equipped.

The 1st Ohio Cavalry did not leave to-day but will get out to-morrow. All final preparations for departure are being made to-day. At the headquarters of the 1st Corps it is stated no further orders for a removal of troops have been received. From another source it is learned that the 2d Brigade, 2d Division, 1st Corps, under Gen. Haines, is under orders and liable to depart any day. The transportation, it is understood, has been issued and the brigade commander is now awaiting orders to move from the camp. It is thought at the camp that definite orders for the departure of the 9000 men will be received soon.

It is understood these troops are to be moved by the returning transports which are now reaching the American coast. A letter received in camp from United States Senator Fairbanks at Washington, says the entire second division of the First Corps was to be ordered to Porto Rico. The letter was written to Capt. Warren Fairbanks, son of the Senator, who is in the Commissary Department of the division. Senator Fairbanks is close to the Administration, and this information may be regarded as reliable.

Gen. Sanger, commanding the third division, First Army Corps, has ordered the commanding officer of each command in his division to detail two non-commissioned officers and ten privates as a pioneer corps. They will be drilled in clearing roads and work of like character.

Orders have also been issued by Gen. Sanger directing that regimental commanders prepare a list of all sharpshooters in the regiment, also designating the second and third class marksmen. They are to be formed into companies of sharpshooters and will be used in picking the guerrillas out of trees, after the command reaches Cuba, if that shall ever come to pass.

Assistant Quartermaster-General Lee has received 600 water filters, which will be given the soldiers at Camp Thomas. The water, which is procured from the pipe line, is now used for cooking purposes, but will hereafter be filtered. The water is pure but muddy at times. The filters will be given to each battalion.

As an evidence of the healthfulness of the camp an official report to Gen. Brooke by the surgeon of the 1st Corps shows that there were only 321 sick in the entire 1st Corps of 35,000 men.

Sergt. Charles A. Wood of the 2d Missouri Regiment died at the 3d Division Hospital at Chickamauga, Monday afternoon. The cause was typhoid fever which had first manifested itself three weeks ago. This is the third death in the 2d.

Sergt. Wood was in civil life connected with the Evening Press at Carthage, Mo. He was a fine specimen physically.

Sergt. Wood caught cold sleeping in the open air while acting as sergeant of the guard. He had been a national guardsman for six or seven years, being attached to Company A, Col. Caffee's former command. Col. Caffee did all possible for the sick man, furnishing many luxuries not a part of the hospital allowance. Wood died with the Colonel holding his hand. The body will be embalmed and sent to Carthage.

A Card From F. H. Ingalls.

Editor Post-Dispatch: I am informed that a large number of your readers are not supplied with reliable watches. Please say to them all that I am making extra special terms of $2 cash down and the balance payable weekly or monthly. Ladies can make selections for their husbands if desired, and money will be refunded if not satisfactory.

The Sale of the Browns.

The Post-Dispatch on Saturday told of the garnishments brought against Von der Ahe's property and stock. It also told of how Von der Ahe's attorney said: "They amount to nothing. We will take care of them." The same attorney also intimated that the Browns would not be sold on Friday and that all the talk of their sale on that day was so much buncombe. Despite this statement the morning newspapers insist that the club will be sold on Friday to some one. The fact that Von der Ahe has not even advertised the sale shows how absurd these sort of statements are.

ONE LONE AMERICAN.

FRANCIS PORTUSACH NOW GOVERNOR OF THE LADRONE ISLANDS.

FORMERLY LIVED IN CHICAGO.

A St. Louisan Knew Him Intimately—He Was of Spanish Blood and Had Plenty of Money.

When Gen. Anderson, in charge of the relief expedition to Manila, steamed into Dapen Bay with the Charleston and captured the Ladrone Islands, he found among the inhabitants but one American citizen.

The Spanish possession was under the control of Gov. Juan Marina, who with five of his officers was taken prisoner and transported to the Philippine Islands. The lone citizen of the United States whom Gen. Anderson met, professed devoted allegiance to the stars and stripes, but, like the surprised Spaniards, was wholly unaware of the war in progress.

After a second interview Gen. Anderson appointed Francis Portusach as Governor of the islands. The American who has so suddenly risen to an imperial position in the far off Pacific was well known throughout the United States.

Charles E. Cutter, local representative of the Associated Press, knew Portusach in Chicago, where he resided for several years.

"I am positive," said Mr. Cutter, "he is my old acquaintance Portusach, who has assumed jurisdiction in the Philippine Islands. He is 30 years old and comes of a blue-blooded Spanish family. He was naturalized in Chicago in 1888. I recollect very well the day he took out his papers. I was in the Courthouse in Chicago when a mild-mannered young fellow walked in on us one day and said he would like to live in future as a full-fledged American citizen. From his conversation I knew he was bright and well educated.

"Portusach was not at the time engaged in any particular business that I knew of. He was merely a young gentleman of leisure. His home was at Barcelona, Spain, where his father acquired considerable wealth as a merchant. Frank always had plenty of money and he spent it liberally.

"He left Chicago in 1890 and traveled Westward, locating, I believe, in Tacoma, Wash.

"I heard subsequently that he was in San Francisco. He was of a roving disposition and it is not unlikely that he got out in the Pacific Ocean and squatted where he was found by Gen. Anderson ... weeks ago."

THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS

BY ITS AGENTS,

THE CHARLES GREEN REAL ESTATE CO.

WILL OFFER FOR SALE AT PUBLIC AUCTION!

ON THE PREMISES,

Saturday, July 16, 1898, at 11 O'Clock A. M.

At the Southwest Corner of Eleventh and Chestnut Streets, the Property Known as

THE OLD CITY HALL.

Also the property known as the Bohle leasehold, all in City Block No. 489, with the improvements thereon, and fronting three hundred and fifteen (315) feet on the south side of Chestnut street, with the same front on the north side of Market street, and running from both streets one hundred and three (103) feet three (3) inches to an alley fifteen feet wide.

There is no more desirable property in the city for investment than this, the Old City Hall.

IT IS THE LARGEST PIECE OF DOWN-TOWN

business property left unsold. Values in real estate are constantly increasing east of Twelfth street, and this block is a grand location for a central hotel, for an office building and for various other purposes. With all the city offices now located in the new City Hall, and with a good office building on this site, it would be immediately sought as a location by real estate agents, lawyers, insurance companies and various classes of other business.

THE IMPROVEMENTS ARE SUBSTANTIAL

and could be, with little cost, changed into stores and offices. The property will be sold first in lots, as per plat, and second as a whole, giving the capitalists and the merchant of modest means an opportunity to invest.

THE BOHLE PLACE IS UNDER LEASE, expiring May, 1902, and paying an annual rental of three thousand dollars ($3000.00) and taxes; possession of this property will be given as soon as the city can vacate the premises, and until possession can be given the city will pay rent for the occupancy of the property on a basis equal to the annual rate of 6 per cent on the purchase money.

TERMS OF SALE:

One-fourth cash, one-fourth in one year, one-fourth in two years, and one-fourth in three years; the deferred payments to be secured by a deed of trust on the property, and to bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. The sale of this property or any portion of it will be subject to the approval of

and a cash payment of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) on the bidding off of each lot will be required, and Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) on the bidding off of the whole property; which cash payments will be refunded to the purchasers in case the sale be not approved.

Plats and posters, with full particulars, can be had on application to the agents.

A FAR-REACHING DECISION.

It Involves Nearly $400,000,000 Worth of Life Insurance.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12.—The case of J. W. Duggan and others against the Covenant Mutual Life Association of Galesburg, Ill., to enjoin the collection of alleged illegal assessments by the association, pending in the Circuit Court, was decided in favor of the plaintiffs. This case has attracted a great deal of attention among policy holders of mutual life insurance, and the far-reaching effects of this decision are set forth in an appeal which the committee having charge of the suit has made to the policy holders, of whom there are nearly 18,000 throughout the United States and Canada, representing nearly $400,000,000 insurance, who are affected by this decision.

SPINDLES AT WORK AGAIN.

Twelve Mill Corporations Resume Operations at Fall River, Mass.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 12.—The mills of 12 corporations, operating about 900,000 spindles, which have been closed since July 2, were started up again yesterday. The Slade mills continued the shut down this week. The conditions of the print cloth market did not lead this mill to resume operations, as prices continue very low and the demand is only moderate.

Real Estate Firm Sued.

Joseph Porri Tuesday entered suit against Naughton & Bergfeld, real estate agents, to enforce the return of a note for $6500 which he claims to have been secured from him by fraudulent representations and sold and the proceeds converted to the use of defendants.

Porri asks a judgment of $6500 in case the note has passed into the hands of a bona fide innocent purchaser.

THE MARKETS.

ST. LOUIS, July 12.

The markets opened weak and lower on wheat this morning, although cables were higher at the opening and advanced further at the close.

It was the bearish movement following the Government report, which, however, it was thought had been pretty fully discounted before it was issued. Conservative traders thought the bottom had been reached yesterday, and the weakness to-day after two days decline was somewhat of a surprise to many.

The bulls do not take a great deal of stock in the Government report, because they say there is no way of telling what disappointment in earing will develop on threshing, but, all the same, they seem to be unable to keep the market up, and there is very little speculation.

The feature was the falling off of July wheat, due to continued indications of a freer movement of the new crop. Chicago received 31 cars new wheat to-day, against only 6 the same day last year, and, while Minneapolis and Duluth receipts continue small, Detroit and Toledo report country offerings considerably increased. Local receipts continue to come in, but No. 2 is proportionately small to the total.

July has been at a premium of 6c and over over Sept. This was reduced to 5c soon after the opening this morning, and if the movement of new wheat continues the margin will grow narrower. The new crop movement is an important factor now in establishing prices.

Corn showed some weakness in sympathy with wheat, but the falling off was not pronounced. The Government crop report was somewhat bullish on wheat, and it is holding up well and better prices are looked for.

New York reports that exporters took yesterday 280,000 bu wheat, 120,000 bu corn, 110,000 bu oats. At outports, 68,000 bu wheat, 90,000 bu corn.

Closing Liverpool cable: Wheat ⅛d higher for the day; firm, with upward tendency. Corn ⅛d lower; quiet; demand moderate; prices steady.

WHEAT.

The market opened weak and with a downward tendency which continued despite an occasional fractional rally. July and August, which has kept up well until yesterday, lost another cent to-day up to noon after yesterday's decline of 1¼c, and is 3 cents lower than last Friday. The increase in receipts of new wheat sent July down and the later months went with it.

The receipts of wheat at primary points to-day were 124,687 bu, compared with 284,433 bu same day last year. Shipments were 151,936 bu, compared with 224,387 bu same time last year.

The receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day were 38 cars, compared with 361 cars same date last year.

The receipts of wheat in St. Louis to-day were 24,953 bu, compared with 22,505 bu same day last year. Of these receipts 4868 sks and 20 cars were local, compared with 5380 sks and 14 cars same date last year.

July opened at 72¼c, ⅛c below yesterday's close, next 72c was asked, then 71¾c, 71½c bid, and down to 71¼c asked, closing at 71c a.

Sept. opened at 67c, yesterday's closing price, and was never higher. It went down to 66⅞c, 66¾c, 66⅝c, 66½c, vacillating between 66½c and 66⅜c, went down to 66⅜c, then to 66¼c, back to 66⅜c, then to 66½c, was for some time between 66½c and 66⅜c, then to 66⅜c and back to a range of 66⅜c to 66⅝c, then down again till it touched 66c, ranged between 66c and 66¼c, touched bottom at 65⅞@66c and got up as high later as 66⅝c again and then back to 66⅛c, rallied again and closed at 66⅜@66½c asked.

Dec. opened at 67c and, while there was not much business, the quotations followed Sept. closely, preserving a difference of from ¼c to ⅜c in favor of the latest month. The opening price was the highest and 66½c the lowest. It rallied to 66⅞c at the close.

Spot grades—At the call 75c was bid for cash No. 2 Advance, in Venice, offered at 78c; No. 2 regular 75c bid, No. 3, 72c bid. In the sample market new wheat sold about 1c lower than yesterday. No. 3 sold at 77c this side and No. 2 was sold at 80c E. side. A car of thin No. 4 sold at 70c E. side; a car of new No. 2 hard was sold to arrive at 82c this side.

Closing quotations: July, 71c a; Sept., 66⅜@66½c a; Dec., 66⅞c.

CORN.

The market opened dull and a shade lower, Sept. being unchanged to ⅛c lower and losing ⅛c up to noon. July was neglected entirely in the local pit, and there was little trading in Sept.

Local receipts were very light, consisting only of 4885 sks.

The receipts of corn at primary points to-day were 273,618 bu, compared with 462,877 bu same day last year. Shipments were 571,044 bu, compared with 139,595 bu same day last year.

The receipts of corn at St. Louis to-day were 4885 bu, compared with 16,025 bu same day last year. Of these receipts 754 sks were local, compared with 250 sks and 3 cars same date last year.

July opened at 30⅝c bid, 30⅞c asked, ⅛c lower than yesterday's close. There was no trading in July and no changes in quotations before the close, which was nominal at 30¾c.

September opened at 30⅞c, went to 30⅝c, back to ⅞c, then to ⅝c again and down to ⅝c and the range was confined to between ⅝c and ⅞c the rest of the session until near 1 o'clock, when it got back to the opening price, at which it closed.

Spot Grades—At the call 31½c was bid for No. 2, none offered. In the sample market No. 2 mixed and yellow sold at 32c this side and No. 2 white sold at 33¼c.

Closing quotations: July, 30¾c n; Sept., 30⅞c b.

OATS.

The market opened very dull, the local pit not marking a quotation before the call, when July was unchanged and the price bid for Sept. was ⅛c lower than asked at yesterday's close.

The receipts of oats at St. Louis to-day were 12,410 bu, compared with 53,900 bu same date last year. Of these receipts 82 sks and 10 cars were local, compared with 47 cars same date last year.

The receipts of oats at primary points to-day were 262,503 bu; shipments, 198,191 bu.

July opened at 22¾c a and there were no other quotations.

September opened at 19½c b to 19⅝c a and 19⅝c was bid later.

Spot Grades—At the call there were no bids or offers for No. 2. In the sample market No. 2 mixed were reported sold, but they were quoted 24c nominal. A car of good No. 4 mixed sold at 22½c, No. 3 white sold at 25½c and 26½c this side on track and a car sold at 27c elevator. No. 4 white sold at 25c and 25½c.

Closing quotations: July, 22¾c a; Sept., 19⅝c b.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Speculation in wheat to-day was exceedingly dull and prices ruled weak and lower. Government figures were plainly discounted yesterday and the trade to-day was principally on the new wheat receipts and the fine weather. Chicago receipts were 40 cars, of which 31 were new. Northwest arrivals were 38 cars, against 361 last year. July opened ⅛c lower at 75⅜c, sold down to 74½c, then rose to 75⅛c. Sept. started ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher at 67¾@68⅛c, declined to 67¼@67⅜c, then rallied to 67⅝c bid.

The crowd sold corn on a bearish interpretation of the Government crop report. Cables were lower and country advices rather favorable. Sept. opened ⅛@¼c lower at 32c, weakened to 31⅞@31⅞c, then advanced to 32c.

Oats followed corn. Sept. began ⅛c down at 19⅝c, sold off to 19⅜c, then rose to 19⅝c.

Provisions showed independent strength on a good cash demand for meats and higher prices for hogs at the yards. Sept. pork opened 2½@7½c higher at $9.95@10, sold up to $10.05, down to $9.97½, then advanced to $10. Sept. lard started 2½@5c better at $5.55, rose to $5.60, then declined to $5.57½. Sept. ribs began 2½c higher at $5.60, sold up to $5.62½ and then reacted to $5.60.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, July 12.—There was some heaviness in the railroad list at the opening in sympathy with London, but losses did not exceed ¼, and a number of prominent railroad stocks showed gains. The leading specialties all inclined to the side of losses, which amounted on an average to about ½ a point.

The stock market was quite active and rather erratic during the first hour. The specialties, which had been weak at the start, were pushed up and the other stocks meantime, with few exceptions, suffered important losses, Omaha falling 1⅝. The heaviness of the railroads induced realizing in the industrials and the general tendency became very much mixed.

The market took on a decided tone and moved upward under the leadership of Sugar, which rose above 134. The drift of the speculation into the junior mortgages in the bond market is responsible, in a measure, for the comparative dullness of the trading in stocks, except in a few issues. Low priced bonds were in brisk demand, Wisconsin Central 1st trust receipts rising 3½. Atchison adjustments were taken in round amounts at advancing prices. Sales of stocks to noon, 132,150 shares.

FIVE VICTIMS OF STREET CARS.

Mrs. Nancy E. Baker Killed, Mrs. Henry Alt Scarred for Life and Three Boys Have Broken Bones.

MRS. HENRY ALT HURT.

Mrs. Henry Alt of 3029 Shenandoah street was seriously hurt in a collision of street cars on the Grand avenue division of the Scullin system, near Grand avenue and the Gravois road, Monday evening.

Her forehead was terribly bruised and she sustained dangerous internal injuries.

Mrs. Alt's condition was not improved Tuesday morning, when a reporter called at her home. She says the motorman on car No. 473 is responsible for the accident.

"I was with my husband and nephew," said Mrs. Alt, "and we signaled for the car we were on to stop at No. 38 engine house. My husband took the child and preceded me from the car. I saw the other car coming towards us at a terrific speed. It was directly behind us and I thought the motorman would know enough to reverse his brakes. My husband called to me to run forward in the car. At the same time he leaped from the platform and landed safely on the street with the child in his arms. The rear car was approaching so rapidly that I couldn't hear Henry's voice. I clung to a seat and waited in terror for the collision. As the cars struck I felt myself lunge forward and fall heavily on the platform. They say I was unconscious for fully half an hour."

Mrs. Alt is the wife of Henry Alt, ex-Speaker of the House of Delegates.

THROWN FROM HIS BICYCLE.

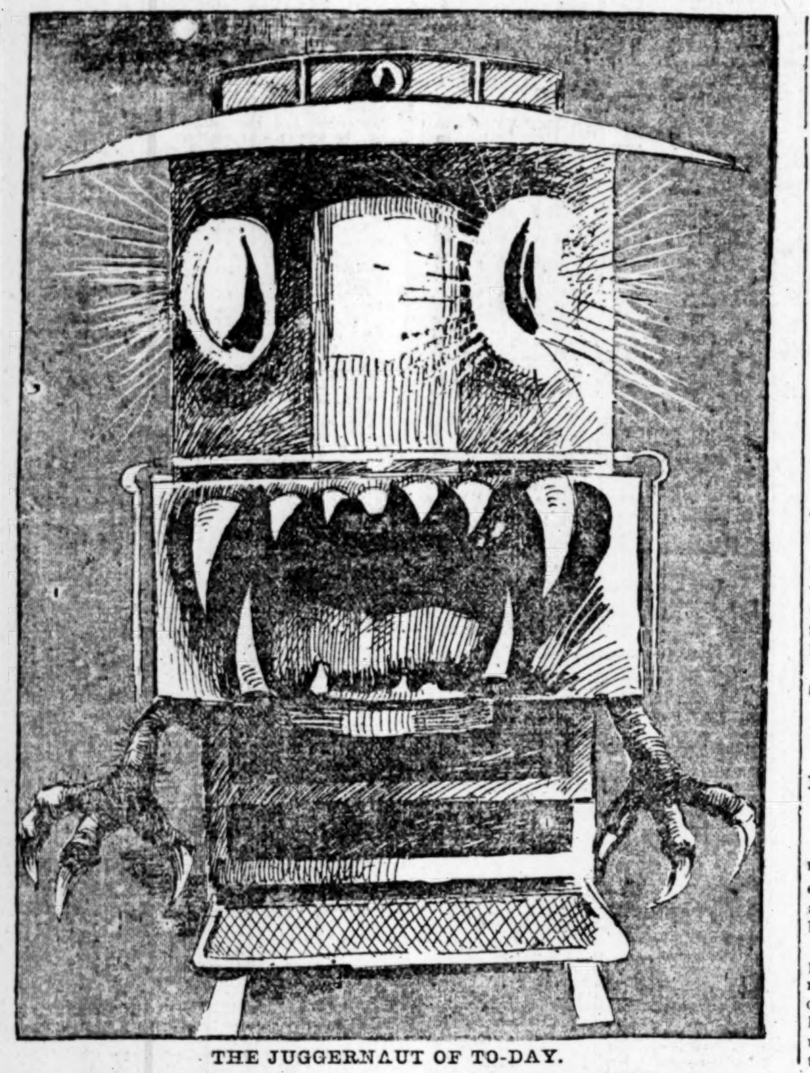
Boy Struck by a Street Car and His Arm Broken Below the Elbow.

Grew Garrett, aged 12, living at 4741 Greer avenue, was riding his bicycle near his home, Monday afternoon, when he collided with a street car. The contact threw him upon the street, resulting in the breaking of his arm below the elbow. The conductor removed the child to his home.

CAUGHT HIS HEEL ON A STEP.

Frank Grumlow's Left Leg Wrenched and Badly Broken.

Frank Grumlow of 2434 De Kalb street was alighting from a Broadway car at Carroll street, at 7 o'clock Monday evening, when his heel caught in the car step, wrenching his left leg so that it was broken. He was removed to his home and received prompt treatment.



THE JUGGERNAUT OF TO-DAY.

MRS. BAKER'S DEATH.

Mrs. Nancy E. Baker of Vincennes, Ind., lost her life Monday afternoon near Cherokee street and Ohio avenue by means of a car of the Cherokee division of the Union Depot Railway Co.

Conductor Colly reported that Mrs. Baker jumped from the open car while it was in motion and without having signaled him to stop. The dead woman's friends maintain that when the car slowed down at Ohio avenue she was about to alight when it suddenly started, throwing her violently from the running board. Patrolman Webber reported that the passengers told him the woman became dizzy and fell from the car.

Mrs. Baker was picked up unconscious and taken to the office of Dr. Henry Schulz, Jefferson avenue and Cherokee street, who found her skull fractured at the base of the brain. She died an hour later.

Mrs. Baker had recently become possessed by inheritance of $200,000 and was about to remove to St. Louis with her son, James E. Baker, who is connected with the Wabash Railroad. She had been a guest of Mrs. Clementine Sexton of 3441 Ohio avenue, to whose home the body was removed.

Mrs. Baker was a daughter of the late Frederick Greater, a wealthy resident of Vincennes. She owned the Grand Hotel of that city, conducted by her son, Fred Baker. She leaves also a daughter, Mrs. Mary Elliott of Vincennes.

At the Coroner's inquest thorough investigation into the tragedy will be made.

NEWSBOY'S LEG MANGLED.

Hugh O'Keefe, a mite of a newsboy, was run over by a Lindell Railway car at Eighteenth street and Chouteau avenue, Monday afternoon and received such injuries that his left leg was amputated below the knee.

Hugh boarded a Park avenue car, cried his papers and endeavored to jump. By some means he fell under the car and the wheels crushed his leg. A kind-hearted passenger lifted the child in his arms and held him until an express wagon came by and took the little fellow to the Dispensary.

DEATH OF MR. BARNEY

ST. LOUIS LOSES A CITIZEN WHO COMMANDED THE RESPECT OF ALL.

WAS A VICTIM OF PARALYSIS.

His Life Another Example of the Possibilities of Achievement in This Republic.

Charles E. Barney, vice-president and general manager of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Co., and one of the best known business men of St. Louis, died Monday afternoon at 5:20 o'clock at his residence, 6024 West Cabanne avenue. The cause of death was a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Barney had been ill four weeks, though within that time he had made an effort to resume his business cares. While walking one afternoon three weeks ago he ruptured a small bloodvessel in the calf of his right leg. At his physician's advice Mr. Barney stayed at home several days, but returned to his office before the lameness resulting from the rupture had disappeared.

A week ago last Wednesday, as Mr. Barney was eating breakfast he found himself unable to use his right hand and arm. Drs. P. G. Robinson and H. Tuholski pronounced the attack one of paralysis. Mr. Barney seemed to grow better until Monday afternoon, when, at 4:30 o'clock, came the second stroke which quickly ended his life.

Mr. Barney was what the world calls a self-made man. Born at Waterville, Me., 66 years ago, after receiving a public school education, he entered the employment of Jordan, Marsh & Co., the big Boston dry goods house. From there he went to Lord & Taylor, New York, and came to St. Louis in the early 50s. Here he entered the employ of Vandervoort & McClelland, as the firm was then known, remaining with the concern through its changes to the present time.

As vice-president of the company Mr. Barney actively controlled both the wholesale and retail divisions. His death is a severe loss to the concern.

Mr. Barney leaves three daughters. His wife, who was Miss Helen Gorman, whom he married in 1858, died four years ago. The daughters are Mrs. W. B. Hall and Miss Madge Barney of St. Louis and Mrs. C. E. Maloy of New York. Mrs. Maloy's three children were his only grandchildren. Mr. Barney also leaves two sisters, Mesdames Winslow and Bert of San Francisco, Cal. All these relatives are expected to attend the funeral, which will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence.

Mr. Barney was a member of the Merchants' Exchange, Loyal Legion and Mercantile, St. Louis and University Clubs, as well as other organizations. He was also a Mason. His charitable spirit was shown in many ways, but always [illegible]tentatiously, few knowing of his de[illegible] [illegible]wards. He was always [illegible] [illegible]dle relief comm[illegible]

WEBSTER FIGHTS FIRE.

GALLANT SUBURBANITES EXTINGUISH FLAMES WITH BED CLOTHING.

THE MAYOR'S BARN BURNED.

But His Furniture and Two Near-by Houses Were Saved by the Most Heroic Work.

Just after the good people of Webster had tucked themselves snugly away for sleep under comforts, quilts and blankets Monday night the fire alarm was sounded by the bells on the Presbyterian Church, and a great glare shone in the nothern sky.

Winter wraps were dragged out and donned, and everybody took his or her blanket, quilt or comfort and went to the fire, as they always do, to help form the bucket brigade and spread blankets, comforts or quilts.

After an hour's hard labor by more than a hundred civilians and gallant soldier boys, headed by Capt. Geo. Kauffman and assisted by several hundred of the fair sex, who looked on and gave orders about the placing of their quilts, comforts and blankets, Mayor Fleming's barn burned to the ground. A residence to the east and a barn to the south of it were saved, together with the Mayor's furniture, which had been stored in the ill-fated barn at the time the Mayor's fine residence burned several weeks ago.

To city folk, be its said, there is nothing equal to fighting a fire with quilt or blanket. These were brought to bear with telling effect, both on the fire and two cisterns which were syphoned dry. Originally intended for heat conductors, by being soaked they became water conductors and were laid all over the adjoining houses and barns. Now they will have to go up against the heat again before they become cold non-conductors.

After the fire had satisfied its greed it went out and Webster fire fighters went in, but in doing so they went without that with which they came, i. e., comforts, blankets and quilts, and had to woo Morpheus under old coats, wraps, etc., but with Webster "the end justifies the means." Loss, about $50.

DIED ALONE IN A CABIN.

Terrible Fate of Thomas Moore, Once a St. Louis Private Watchman.

In a letter from a brother-in-law, Fred Johnson of Leeds, N. D., Hopkins Bates of this city has received news of the horrible fate of a former St. Louisan named Thomas Moore.

According to the letter, Moore located about 20 miles from Leeds. He did well last year, but one day he failed to show up in Leeds for his supplies, as usual. Nothing was thought of it until a rancher reported hearing a dog barking in Moore's cabin. A party of six went to the cabin, forced an entrance and found Moore's skeleton.

The dog had been locked in so long he had eaten all the flesh from Moore's bones, and it was impossible to tell whether it had been a case of suicide, murder or natural death.

Moore, according to the letter, told that he formerly worked on the police force. Albert Chase, an ex-policeman, says Moore walked a beat on the Levee in 1881.

SUBURBAN FRENCH FETE.

Big Celebration at the Gardens Thursday Evening Next, July 14.

Arrangements are complete for the celebration of the French Fete at the Suburban Gardens, Thursday night, July 14.

The salute of bombs will begin at 7 o'clock and the programme of the fete will open promptly at 8 o'clock, the grand orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Morris Spyer, giving the overture from Suppe.

Then will follow the opening address in French by Mr. Emil Karst, President of the Executive Committee; Donizetti's "Salute a la France," in French, by Miss Adelaide Kalkman; addresses in English by Edwin Harrison and Judge Krum; "All America," the new national hymn, sung by Mr. Jos. F. WERE MARRIED AT CLAYTON.

Miss Mamie O'Brien Becomes Mrs. Morrissey.

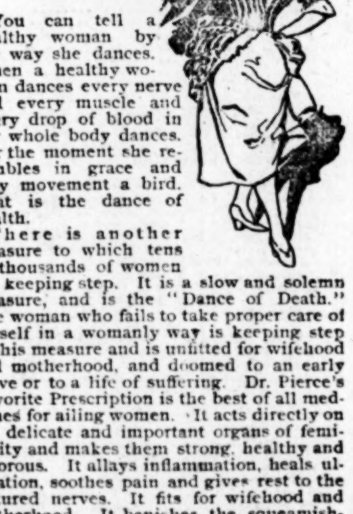
Clayton has disclosed another romance in the runaway marriage of Miss Mamie O'Brien, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Brien, 1116 North Twentieth street, and Joseph L. Morrissey of 5621 Cote Brilliante avenue.

MRS. J. L. MORRISSEY.

For six years the young couple have loved despite parental opposition on religious grounds. Neither could summon the courage to broach their love to their parents and so their romance flowed on until young Morrissey received an offer from Swift & Co. of Chicago and decided to accept it.

Then the pair decided to marry, and a visit to Clayton Monday was the result. The couple, after their marriage, left at once for Chicago.

When the news was taken to the parents of both philosophy was in sway, and the pair will be forgiven and joyfully received on their return to St. Louis.



You can tell a healthy woman by the way she dances. When a healthy woman dances every nerve and every muscle and every drop of blood in her whole body dances. For the moment she resembles in grace and easy movement a bird. That is the dance of health.

There is another measure to which tens of thousands of women are keeping step. It is a slow and solemn measure, and is the "Dance of Death." The woman who fails to take proper care of herself in a womanly way is keeping step to this measure and is unfitted for wifehood and motherhood, and doomed to an early grave or to a life of suffering. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for ailing women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs of femininity and makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and gives rest to the tortured nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It banishes the squeamishness of the period of suspense and makes the little stranger's advent easy and almost painless. It insures baby's health and an ample supply of nourishment. It has transformed thousands of nervous, sickly, fretful women into healthy, happy wives and competent mothers. It sends the blood, dancing to the quick-step of health, through the veins of maid, wife and mother. All good druggists sell it.

"I was all broken down from nervous prostration," writes Mrs. Henry Barlow, of Lonsdale, Providence Co., R. I. "Since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I have had more relief than from all the doctors' medicine."

ABOUT TOWN.

CELEBRATION.—A committee of 50 instead of 15 will arrange for the celebration in 1903 of the Louisiana purchase.

TWENTY-SIXTH WARD.—The regular meeting of the Ziegerhein and Business Men's Republican Club of the Twenty-sixth Ward will be held at Bock's Hall, 4113 Easton avenue, Wednesday evening.

STONING A CAR.—Boys on Park avenue west of Grand bombarded a Park avenue street car Monday afternoon with stones. One stone struck a passenger on the side of the head, but fortunately did not seriously hurt him.

EVANGELISTS.—At a mass meeting of church people at the Cass Avenue Mission Monday night arrangements were made for a series of evangelistic meetings from Aug. 1 to 14. The chief speaker will be Rev. B. E. Shawhan of Kansas City.

ASYLUM FIRE.—An overheated chimney at St. Mary's Female Orphan Asylum, Fifteenth and Clark avenue, Monday afternoon set fire to the roof of the east wing. The flames were extinguished without material damage. There are 180 children in the asylum, but no panic was created.

ARE CANDIDATES.—Harvey W. Salmon of Henry County and Vincent Marmaduke of Saline, both said to be candidates for Governor, are in the city. Mr. Salmon denies the impeachment, but Col. Marmaduke does not. Col. Marmaduke's brother and father have both held the office.

FURNITURE DEALERS.—A large delegation of St. Louis furniture men, led by M. J. Mulvihill, left Monday evening to attend the fourth annual convention of the Retail Furniture Dealers' Association of America at the Victoria Hotel, Chicago. They will endeavor to bring the next convention to St. Louis.

BUYERS HERE.—Seven of the 14 members of the Golden Rule Syndicate which buys stocks for 14 stores in the Northwest are at the Lindell. They are O. D. Fisher, Birch Tree, Mo.; W. C. Seagle, Grandin, Mo.; Guy Johnson, Evanston, Wyo.; Ben Fisher, Bozeman, Mont.; H. C. Stevens, Sheridan, Wyo.; J. M. Callahan and W. B. Bennett, Longmont, Colo. The other members are expected daily.

INTOLERABLE ITCHING

Eczema All Over Head and Face. Two Doctors, No Benefit.

Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES with Rapid Cure.

I was troubled several years with cutaneous diseases which developed into chronic Eczema, which spread all over my head, and down on my face. I took medical treatment from two doctors and received but little relief. Then I tried several lotions, etc., which we had in the store, but only received little relief from them. At times, the dreadful itching became almost intolerable. When I was heated, the Eczema became painful and almost distracted me. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES and did so, and found them all that is claimed for them. The Eczema rapidly disappeared, and I am well, with no trace of any cutaneous disease. Shall always recommend CUTICURA to all.

Baby Scratched Continually

Our babe, two months old, broke out in sores over her face and ears. She seemed to be in great misery, and would scratch continually. I noticed your advertisement in our home paper, and supposed it would be a good thing for our Sadie. I used the CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA SOAP, and they were a great benefit to her. I did not like to give medicine inwardly to a child so young, but saw that she must have something to drive the disease out, so I got a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, to purify her blood, and gave her about one third of the bottle, and your medicines have done wonders for her.

VROOMAN DAMAGED.

FILED SUIT AGAINST JIM LEWIS, HUGH BRADY AND FLEWELLYN SAUNDERS.

HE ONLY WANTS $25,000.

Lewis Is Charged With Ordering a Search Illegally and With Suppressing a Public Record.

Lee Meriwether, as attorney for Walter Vrooman, filed suit at 1 o'clock Tuesday in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for $25,000 damages against Gen. Jim Lewis, vice and acting-president of the Board of Police Commissioners, and Election Commissioners Hugh J. Brady and William Flewellyn Saunders. The defendants are sued as individuals and not in their official capacity.

The suit is based on a search warrant issued by Lewis at the request of the election commissioners May 27, in connection with the alleged theft by Vrooman of three election booths and a table, which were taken from a polling place at 1557 South Broadway, May 17. Vrooman was charged at the time by the election commissioners with stealing the booths, and while the case was pending in the Court of Criminal Correction and Vrooman was in jail awaiting trial. The search warrant was issued directing Detective Samuel Allender to search the premises of Vrooman, at 4713 Page avenue, for the booths and table.

The petition of suit sets forth that Gen. Lewis, by virtue of his office, is entitled to issue search warrants upon places for property where there is evidence to show that such property was "stolen." That while the petitioner was in jail on a warrant "instigated and procured by defendants Saunders and Brady, knowingly, willfully, falsely and maliciously charging plaintiff with the crime of stealing three election booths and one table of the value of $15, on which he has since been tried and acquitted on the State's own evidence, said defendants, Saunders and Brady, together with George W. Jones, the other election commissioner, applied to defendant Lewis for the issue of a warrant for the search of plaintiff's house, 4713 Page avenue, in the city of St. Louis, alleging that on or about the 17th of May, 1898, there had been taken and carried away from 1557 South Broadway, in the city of St. Louis, three election booths and one table of the value of $15, and that they had good reason to believe and did believe that said property was then concealed in plaintiff's house," etc.

The petition proceeds by charging that Lewis, "to aid Saunders and Brady in their malicious spitework against plaintiff, instigated for his humiliation and disgrace, confederated and conspired with them for that purpose and prostituted the high powers conferred upon him by the law," and that he did issue the search warrant, "defendant Lewis first erasing the word 'stolen,' so that the complaint and affidavit merely read 'that there was taken and carried away.'"

Detective Allender is charged with then executing the warrant under orders from Lewis, who was accompanied in his search by Saunders.

"After the search was made," the petition recites, "upon this illegal warrant, defendant Lewis, who is a practicing attorney and supposed to know the law governing his office, became alarmed at commanding a search to be made of a citizen's dwelling for property not alleged to be stolen, and attempted to correct the first mistake by the commission of another and a greater one, viz., the suppression of a public record. "After the search had been made on said illegal warrant, defendant Lewis withdrew the complaint and affidavit and warrant from the records or files of the office, and substituted therefor another complaint and affidavit, which he caused said Jones and defendants Saunders and Brady to make, containing the word 'stolen,' to make it conform to the letter of the law, to which he added a search warrant and this new paper he placed in the files or records of the office, in lieu of the original withdrawn, first having caused the officer, Allender, to make a second and perfunctory search, and to make return of its execution on the new paper, as if it were the original. The original complaint, affidavit and warrant, illegally issued and illegally executed, defendant Lewis carried away from the office and now conceals it and refuses to permit plaintiff or his attorney to inspect it."

Plaintiff charges that all the defendants are guilty of oppression in office and that the character of the plaintiff by their action has been damaged to the extent of $25,000. Therefore, he asks judgment in this sum.

SAYS SHE WAS BADLY BEATEN.

Little Henrietta Kreichelt Swears to a Warrant Against Mrs. Rippe.

Mrs. Carrie Rippe of 1310 North Broadway will have to stand trial on a charge of cruelly whipping a 10-year-old child. The victim is Henrietta Kreichelt, who, since the death of her mother two years ago, has made her home with Mrs. Rippe.

The youngster did much of the cooking. She was assigned to watch some jelly that was boiling on the stove Monday afternoon, but, instead of complying with Mrs. Rippe's orders, she played with her dolls and allowed the jelly to burn. Mrs. Rippe, the child declares, thereupon beat her with her fists and then kicked her in the stomach. At the warrant office Tuesday she exhibited a tiny pair of arms, covered with bruises.

HE SIGNED A PLEDGE.

BARNEY BACON MUST NOT TOUCH INTOXICANTS FOR A WHOLE YEAR.

JUDGE MURPHY'S JUDGMENT.

Young Man Called Before the Court and Set Free Upon the Recorded Conditions Named.

Barney Bacon late of Kansas must leave the festive bowl alone for a whole year or Judge Murphy'll get 'im.

The iron judge made Barney sign a pledge in which he vows that from July 11, 1898, to July 11, 1899, he will not touch beer, whisky or any other intoxicating drink. If Barney keeps the pledge it is the order of the judge that he shall not be molested. But if he is unfaithful to his vows, then the decree of leniency is to become void and a term in the Reform School will be the result.

Barney was before Judge Murphy on the charge of stealing. Information had previously reached the judge to the effect that Barney steals only when he is under the influence of liquor. When sober he is said to be an industrious, well-behaved youth; he is now scarcely 18 years old.

Barney came into court without a lawyer. Penitence was written upon his countenance.

"I understand you are a victim of the drink habit," said the Judge.

"Yes, Your Honor, I've hit the booze pretty lively for a young man," Barney replied.

Judge Murphy frowned when he heard the young man's slang, but he excused it, and proceeded to deliver a temperance lecture. At the conclusion of the lecture, he ordered Clerk Louis Zepp to write a pledge. And this is what he wrote:

> ST. LOUIS, July 11, 1898.
> I, Barney Bacon, do solemnly swear that I will abstain from all intoxicating liquors for the term of one year to date from July 11, 1898, so help me God.

"Sign that!" commanded Judge Murphy.

Barney signed cheerfully. Then he was permitted to leave the courtroom. He walked in the middle of the street as he passed through the Four Courts neighborhood, to keep away from the numerous saloon solicitors or "ropers" who infest the sidewalks. Barney's pledge was sworn to and officially executed before Louis Zepp, deputy clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, and the document is on file in the clerk's office.

Strangely enough, Barney Bacon was reared in Kansas, where prohibition sentiment is stronger than in any other part of the United States. He admits that for several years he has drank large, juicy beers with the war tax removed, and it is not recorded that he ever refused a drink of whisky.

MAY GO TO CHICAGO.

There Will Be Lively Bidding for the Old City Hall Saturday.

St. Louis investors will have to look to their laurels if they do not want to see the old City Hall plum go to Chicago investors. The auction sale of this property will take place Saturday morning under the auspices of the Charles Green Real Estate Co. The advertisement of the property in the Post-Dispatch came to the attention of some prominent Chicago capitalists. They opened correspondence with Mr. Green, and as a result he went to Chicago to see them Friday. His interview was satisfactory, and they will have a representative here to bid for them.

An important feature of this sale is the fact that no upset price has been set on the property. The sale will be first in lots and afterward as a whole, and the approval of the sale will lie only with the Mayor and the Comptroller. The sale will take place at 11 a. m. Saturday. Particulars will be given at the office of the Charles Green Real Estate Co., 720 Chestnut street.
